POLAND MOURNS GREAT LEADER

MARSHAL PILSUDSKI DIES SUDDENLY

ON NINTH ANNIVERSARY OF HISTORIC PUTSCH

Warsaw, May 12.
Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, Poland's "dictator," died at 9.30 o'clock to-night from a kidney disorder. He was sixty-seven years of age and as the Government's "sheet anchor" he had served his country notably, particularly since the Great War.

He was one of the most picturesque figures in Europe and was the creator of the modern Poland.

One of the most powerful and fearless of workers for Polish liberation before and during the Great War, he became a national hero and a figure of world prominence during his historic putsch of 1926. It was a remarkable coincidence that to-day was the anniversary of that daring piece of strategy, nine years ago.

Since the day of the putsch, Marshal Pilsudski has occupied the titular post of Minister for War, but he has been in reality the power behind the scenes. He has shunned publicity and even appearances in public, but always his strength and clear vision have guided Poland through the crises of recent years.

Reports of Marshal Pilsudski's illness have been current for some time, but he was well enough to receive Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Lord Privy Seal, during his recent visit to Eastern European capitals. He was too ill, however, to meet M. Pierre Laval, the French Foreign Minister, who passed through Warsaw yesterday on his way to Moscow.

It was announced on May 9 that the Marshal was suffering from serious uremia.—Reuter.

ENEMY OF RUSSIA

Marshal Pilsudski was a bitter enemy of Russia, and when only 19 years of age was sent to Siberia for five years for plotting for the overthrow of the Russian yoke.

He was born at Vilna and on his native soil had a strong following among the young men. In 1907 he formed a secret army but was forced to flee the country before the time for an uprising was ripe.

In the Great War he sided with the Central Powers but not because he particularly loved Germany. He wished to be free from Russia. When the Czarist regime collapsed, Pilsudski suddenly turned against the German-Austrian combination, seeking to drive those nations off Polish soil. He succeeded very satisfactorily, from his point of view.

FOUGHT SOVIET

In 1919 he became the head of the provisional Government when, by the Treaty of Versailles, Poland was restored in 1919. He succeeded Paderewski, as President in December of that year. He resigned from office three years later, but only after he had made war with the Soviet and driven the encroaching Red forces out of Polish territory.

In 1926 he came back into the public eye by smashing the Witos administration. Since then he has been Poland's dictator much feared, but more loved, than any other of the nation's patriots.

AIR FLEET TO ATTACK HONOLULU

VAST ARMADA TO MANOEUVRE

400 AIRCRAFT TO BE USED

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received, May 12, 1935, 10 a.m.)

Honolulu, May 12.

One of the most sensational air "actions" in the history of the world will be seen over Hawaii's capital shortly during the combined Army and Navy manoeuvres off this port. It was announced to-day.

Over 400 aircraft of all sorts and sizes will participate in a night attack on Honolulu, working in conjunction with a powerful fleet of almost fifty warships.

The defence forces are to be tested in anti-aircraft tactics. Admiral Reeves, in command of the American fleet manoeuvring in the Pacific, is at present conferring with Major-General Drum, who commands the Hawaiian Department of combined Army and Navy units. These two are planning the great raid. The date of attack has not been divulged.

Meanwhile, the fleet of forty-six United States Navy flying boats, which left Pearl Harbour Friday, reached Midway Island on Saturday, after a brief halt for food and fuel at Frigate Shoals.—United Press.

Soviet Plane Fired On

FLIES OVER FORTIFIED MANCHUKUO TOWN

Harbin, May 12.
A Manchukuo official communiqué, issued to-day, states that a Soviet Army plane was sighted over the city of Suifenho, in Manchukuo territory, at 10 o'clock this morning.

The plane flew at a very low altitude and was fired upon by the anti-aircraft guns of the local garrison forces.—Central News.

The death occurred on Friday, in Jersey, Channel Islands, of Commander P. H. Rolfe, R.N.R., who was for many years with the Indo-China Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., mainly on the Hongkong-Manila run and later as Marine Superintendent. He retired in 1911. He was a brother of Trinity House, a Member of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners and a Freeman of the City of London. A son, Mr. C. H. Rolfe, resides in Hongkong.

The above picture, showing Signor Mussolini greeting Mr. Ramsay MacDonald on his arrival at Stresa for the conference between Italy, Britain and France, is of peculiar interest now that Anglo-French representations are being made to Italy regarding the Abyssinian crisis.

Two Killed In American War Games

DESTROYERS COLLIDE ON EXERCISES

PLANE DIVES INTO SEA

New York, May 12.

Two accidents marked the closing stages of the United States naval manoeuvres, the last act of which was the voyage of forty-two warships from San Francisco to Hawaii.

During the voyage one seaman was killed and three were injured when two destroyers collided during patrol exercises in which they were engaged in guarding against an hypothetical submarine attack.

Another fatality occurred when a fast scout plane, taking off from the flying deck of the aircraft carrier Saratoga, plunged into the ocean and disappeared instantly, without leaving a trace. There is no explanation for this mishap.—Reuter.

DETAILED REPORT

The United Press provides details of the report:

The destroyer Lea cleaved through the destroyer Sicard's starboard fantail, making a shambles of the latter's after-deck, at 3.48 a.m., a mile off Diamond Head.

Gunner's Mate Richard Chadwick was instantly killed and four were seriously injured, all aboard the Sicard.

The collision occurred when twenty-four destroyers were steaming towards Honolulu with Admiral Reeves' battle force of forty-two vessels, which arrived in Honolulu this morning.

Steaming at fifteen knots, and unlighted, the Lea proceeded to Pearl Harbour drydock, leaving a trail of oil. Her bow was crumpled. The Sicard is still lying outside. An inquiry is pending.

AIRMAN'S DEATH

On Saturday, Junior Lieutenant Matthias B. Wyatt, flying a pursuit plane, plunged to his death just after taking off from the deck of U.S.S. Saratoga. It is believed that Wyatt's propeller struck the tail of the plane which left the ship just ahead of him.

NATIONAL PARTY FOR N.Z.

POLITICAL GROUPS AMALGAMATE

ELECTION AHEAD

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received, May 12, 1935, 10 a.m.)

Wellington, May 13.

A National Government for New Zealand is foreshadowed by the announcement that the permanent amalgamation of the two most powerful political parties in the Dominion has been effected.

These parties, the United Party, led by the Prime Minister, Mr. George William Forbes, and the Reform Party, led by the Minister of Lands, Mr. E. A. Ransom, are by far the most solidly established in the country.

They will contest the forthcoming general election as Nationalists.—Reuter Special.

R. A. Officer Found Shot

BULLET WOUND IN THE HEAD

A distressing discovery was made in the R.A. officers' mess at Stonecutters Island, shortly after 10 o'clock last night, when Lieutenant Francis Delgarno Gilliot de Berthilleaux, of the 24th Heavy Battery R.A., was found shot through the head.

No details are at the moment available, beyond the fact that he was found dead from a bullet wound in the head in his room at the mess.

The deceased officer, who was unmarried, came to Hongkong in January of last year and was extremely popular amongst his colleagues.

He leaves a mother, who resides at "Rowanhurst," Havant, Hampshire.

The victim of the tragedy was 24 years of age. The police have been informed of the incident and are at the moment making enquiries.

American Government Bonds Fall

ACTIVITY IN STOCK MARKET

COMMODITIES OUTPACED

(Special to "Telegraph")

New York, May 11.

United States Government Bonds were heavily sold to-day, with exchange losses of from 3/32 to 5/16. A late recovery, however, brought something of a return on prices.

Domestic Corporation issues were irregularly active.

Railroad bonds also sold off but recovered later while utility bonds were lower.

European bonds were steady and firm.

On the New York Stock Exchange trading continued active despite profit-taking in the most active session of the year.

A ray of optimism spread over the financial community throughout the past week due to the advance in stock prices and the increase in business volume.

In to-day's session bonds were irregular. Oil shares advanced and motor issues were better. Utilities reached the year's new high level.

Steel issues were steady although affected by the automobile strike and a decline in the shipments of finished products.

Chemical issues were higher. Many traders express disappointment at the failure of commodities to keep pace with the stock market.—United Press.

HOPE TO END STRIKE

INDUSTRY HEADS MEET WORKERS

Toledo, May 12.

Proposals for the ending of the present labour dispute which is threatening to tie up the automobile manufacturing industry, and kindred works, were drawn up at a conference of representatives of the Chevrolet factory executive and the workers' union to-day.

The conference lasted nineteen hours.

The draft proposals, details of which were not disclosed, will be submitted to members of the union to-morrow.—Reuter.

SEEK TO EXTEND PEACE PACT

FRANCE AND RUSSIA INVITE ASSISTANCE

POLISH APPREHENSION MUCH REDUCED

Moscow, May 12.

France and Soviet Russia stand, their rifles at their feet, and with hands outstretched, inviting all other interested powers to join their efforts in the cause of peace, declares Izvestia, semi-official news organ, on the eve of M. Pierre Laval's visit to the Soviet's capital.

The visit of the French Foreign Minister has a special significance, Izvestia declares, because the Franco-Soviet treaty of mutual assistance has opened a new phase in the joint struggle of France and Russia for the peace of the world.

Izvestia emphasises that the purpose of the Franco-Soviet Treaty is to make sure of the defensive capabilities of the two nations.

France and the Soviet are interested in the preservation of existing international treaties, because a treaty creates conditions for attracting to the cause of defence the maximum number of states having no interest in releasing the forces of war, the journal adds.

Neither country shuts the door against the inclusion in the organisation for peace of any power, so long as that power repudiates aggression, says Izvestia.—Reuter.

LAVAL'S DIPLOMACY

Warsaw, May 12.

On the conclusion of the Franco-Polish talks, M. Pierre Laval, the French Foreign Minister, left here to-day for his three days' visit to Moscow.

Both Mr. Laval and Col. Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, spoke optimistically concerning their week-end conversations.

It is now gathered that M. Laval made good headway in persuading Poland that she will not suffer because of the newly signed Franco-Soviet Pact which merely seeks to protect the signature of other powers providing they are prepared to renounce aggressive warfare.—Reuter Special.

American Outlook Reviewed

MONETARY SPEECH PROSPECTS

Washington, May 11.

The Patman Bonus Bill in its present form, will probably be killed. The old plan to pay the bonus from the Work Relief Fund may be revived.

Any effective extension of the N.R.A. is unlikely.

There will be no new cotton policy declared before August 1.

A perfunctory speech from Mr. Henry Morgenthau on Monday night is expected, probably reviewing results of monetary experiments to date, without any announcement of the future monetary policy.

There are no new silver plans contemplated for a fortnight.

Farm incomes are estimated at seven billions, with drought damage probably less than expected.

Current business optimism is widespread, based on good first quarter earnings, plus high hopes for the autumn.—Swan, Culbertson and Fritz.

Military Headquarters notify that 12-pr. gun practice with live ammunition will be carried out from Lyons in the direction of Junk Bay on Wednesday, the 15th. Instant. Should weather conditions prove unfavourable on the 15th, the practice will be postponed until Thursday. Firing will take place from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. approximately.

S'hai Market Steady

AWAITING AMERICAN DECLARATION

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, May 13.

The Foreign Exchange Market is steady at 9.30 a.m. due to the rise in London and Bombay silver on Saturday.

Trading, however, is very dull due to the impending Policy announcement by Mr. Henry Morgenthau, the Secretary of the U.S. Treasury.

Also traders are awaiting the Gold Bar changeover. U.S. dollars are 41½, having opened at 41½, and Sterling is 1/8.3/16, opening at 1/8½. Gold Bars are $785.50.—United Press.

GRETNNA SCANDAL

CLANDESTINE AND IRREGULAR WEDDING

OVERTURE TO ASSEMBLY

The large number of irregular marriages in Scotland, and the continued "scandal" of clandestine marriages at Gretna Green, caused expressions of concern at a meeting of the Synod of Dumfries of the Church of Scotland, held at Dumfries not long ago.

The Synod agreed to make overtures to the General Assembly to renew the appeal to the Government for legislation, giving to the marriage law of Scotland all proper safeguards. It was stated that although the attention of the Secretary of State had been drawn to this matter in 1930, no change in the law had yet taken place.

The terms of the Synod's overture are as follows:—

"Whereas the General Assembly in 1929 and 1930 expressed concern at the large number of irregular marriages in Scotland, and at the continued scandal of the clandestine marriages at Gretna Green, and gave instructions that the attention of the Secretary of State for Scotland be drawn to this serious matter with a view to promoting legislation for amendment of the Scottish marriage law; and whereas no change in the law has yet taken place, though the scandal complained of continues, with consequences even more harmful to the moral and social wellbeing, it is humbly overtured by the Synod of Dumfries to take these premises into their consideration, and to renew their appeal to His Majesty's Government for legislation which will give to the marriage law of Scotland all proper safeguards, or to do otherwise as in their wisdom might seem fit."

MANY UNREGISTERED

The Rev. J. A. Auty, Castle Douglas, who moved that the Synod put forward the overture, said that the great percentage of irregular marriages at Gretna were unregistered owing to the difficulty of having to go to Dumfries for a Sheriff's warrant and back again to Gretna to complete the schedule.

The Church declared her belief that these marriages, which were contracted by all grades of society, were not for the common weal, and that a considerable proportion of infamous marriages had in their history a visit to Gretna.

The absence of registration in the national registers of the vast majority of Gretna marriages often had dire consequences both to those so married and to their children.

The Church, therefore, believed that the matter had reached such scandalous proportions as to call for legislation. They also believed the sentiment of Scotland was against the continuance of Gretna Green marriages.

The Assembly, he continued, proposed in 1930 that the basis of the marriage law of Scotland, which was by mutual consent of parties declared before witnesses, should remain, but that there should be introduced the following safeguards:—(a) that notice of not less than three days be given of a marriage by declaration; (b) that the marriage should be declared

HE MADE LEGS BEAUTIFUL

The man who gave the woman of the world artificial silk stockings is dead. He was Mr. Charles Frederick Cross, and he died last month at his home at Hove, Sussex, at the age of seventy-nine.

The late Lord Melchett once said: "If it had not been for two English chemists young women would not have had the wonderful stockings they wear to-day."

One of the two chemists was Mr. Cross; the other, Mr. E. Bevan, died in 1922. Mr. Cross and his colleague invented the cellulose process for spinning artificial silk more than forty years ago.

before an official readily accessible, named in the statute; (c) that a registrar's schedule should be obtained, as in the case of a religious marriage at present.

LOWERED THE IDEAL

The present situation, concluded Mr. Auty, lowered the whole ideal of marriage, cheapened the relations of the sexes, was a menace to home life, and wronged the children.

They as ministers of the Church of Scotland were guardians of the moral life of the community, and it was their duty to stop this scandal.

They were not altering the fundamental marriage law of Scotland. They were only bringing in safeguards, and he submitted that they should come into line with other civilised countries.

The Rev. W. A. Knowles, Dalton, seconded and the Synod agreed to transmit the overture to the General Assembly.

Joke Ended In Death

WOMAN STABS HER HUSBAND

How a playful demonstration of the antics of performing fleas led to the death of a young married man was told at Accrington, when a verdict of "accidental death" was returned at the inquest on George Dransfield (24), commercial traveller, of Aitken Street, Accrington.

It was stated that Dransfield and his wife visited a local fair ground and saw a performance of fleas in which two of them were supposed to be fighting a duel.

Mrs. Ethel Dransfield said that next evening she was preparing tea and took up a knife to cut bread. At that moment her husband mentioned the fleas' performance. Laughing and joking she began to demonstrate the thrills. She made a slight thrust towards her husband and felt the knife pierce his flesh. He died profusely and did not speak.

They had had four years of happy married life, she said.

James Booth said that Mrs. Dransfield came into his room assisting her husband. When he asked what had happened, she replied, "I have done it; not him." He noticed a small wound on Dransfield's chest and began to bathe it.

Mrs. Dransfield was hugging her husband and imploring him to speak to her. Dr. Anderson said that it was a thousand to one chance on the knife getting between the ribs. With such an instrument, the force required to inflict the wound would not be very great.

The Coroner (Mr. F. Rowland) said it seemed to him that the tragedy was the result of larking, not an unknown thing among young couples.

The jury must realise that young people did silly things and must not put too extreme a test when asking themselves whether they could have avoided it by reasonable care.

RIDDLE OF A WILL

BEERSELLER'S GIFT
TO CHARITY

Mr. William Hurst, a retired beer-seller living at Little Hulton, near Bolton, Lancashire, left what was described to Mr. Justice Farwell, in the Chancery Division by counsel, as the "surprisingly large" fortune of £57,000.

He bequeathed—the residue of that fortune (which is estimated to be a considerable amount) to the "King Edward VII. Royal Hospital, London," and it was that description that brought 15 counsel, including five K.C.s, to the Court to argue about it.

The matter arose on a summons issued by Mr. Hurst's executor, who wished to know what hospital, if any, answered the description.

Four of the K.C.s claimed the residue for one or other of the following institutions: King Edward's Hospital Fund for London; King Edward VII. Hospital for Officers, Grosvenor-gardens, S.W.; King Edward Memorial Hospital, Ealing; and King Edward VII. Hospital, Windsor.

The fifth counsel appeared for Mr. Hurst's next-of-kin.

After hearing all the counsel, Mr. Justice Farwell came to the conclusion that none of the four institutions answered the description in the will, and he made an order, by consent, that a scheme should be prepared to deal with the residue, it being agreed that there was a general charitable intent in the will.

THE DECCA PORTROLA

A complete all electric radio-gram in the compass of an ordinary acoustic portable. Something that—until the introduction of this truly remarkable little instrument was considered out of the question. But the seemingly impossible has been accomplished and DECCA—the inventors of the first acoustic portable—now introduce the world's first portable radio-gram.

A marvel of ingenuity, the 'Portrola' is distinguished not merely for its portability and novelty, but it really is a highly efficient radio-gram, giving superlative results on radio or records and challenging favourable comparison with most multi-valve receivers.

JUBILEE SOUVENIRS

H. E. THE GOVERNOR GIVES TABLETS TO GUILDS

Expressing the official appreciation of the Chinese processions in the Silver Jubilee celebration, His Excellency, the Governor, Sir William Peel, will give, four wooden tablets to each of the Fishmongers' Guild, the Butchers' Guild and the Poultry Dealers' Guild.

The three guilds were responsible for the presentation of the various dragons and numerous other features to the processions. The fourth tablet will be given to the Li Woo Lok Tong troupe the manipulators of the multi-coloured dragon. This troupe is considered to be the best among the bands of dragon bearers.

Similar in size but different in their wording, each of these wooden tablets is beautifully set up with Chinese characters of gold against a striking background of dark blue with suitable inscriptions of appreciation by His Excellency the Governor. On each tablet is set also the name of the distinguished donor and the respective recipients.

Each of the tablets measures about nine feet by three feet. They have been sent to the Office of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. It is understood that they may be presented to the various guilds by the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith on behalf of His Excellency the Governor.

Organisers of the Chinese processions have given a few small symbolic figures made of paper, taken from the tableaux in the Chinese procession, to Lady Peel, as souvenirs of the auspicious occasion.

Dragon Display

Thousands of spectators were thrilled at the South China Athletic Association ground, Caroline Hill, on Saturday night when the Gauze Dragon and Silver Dragon, which had taken part in the extensive Jubilee celebrations earlier in the week, participated in a spectacular display which terminated with a striking combat between the two dragons.

It was the last opportunity of seeing these unique creations: and in spite of the parades through the Colony streets on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday last week, the crowds were excited as ever at the sight of the display.

It is understood that, together with Friday night's takings, the total realised was $6,000 odd. All this, after defraying incidental expenses, will be donated to the Home for the Aged Poor at Kowloon City.

Crowds thronged the stands, and the hillside overlooking the Caroline Hill football field was also packed with Chinese eager to gain a view of the dragons in action.

The performance of the Gauze Dragon provided splendid entertainment with its chase for a pearl in the form of a red lantern.

At the conclusion of the acts, in order to give the dragon a "breather," clowns, lion and tiger heads and men dressed as women paraded the ground to the great amusement of the spectators.

In the grand finale the silver and gauze dragons met in combat. It was a spectacular display as each dragon attempted to gain possession of the pearl. The dragons were brilliantly lit from within and their contortions were most convincing.

Kowloon Procession

Kowloon was treated to a dragon procession yesterday, the golden serpent of the Poultry Dealers' Guild covering the main streets of the Peninsula at mid-day in its last public appearance.

The dragon was preceded by a number of banners and a band and started off at 11 a.m. from Canton Road on the following route: Peking Road, Nathan Road, Jordan Road, Castle Street, Reclamation Street, Leichikok Road, Keelung Street and Shamshuipo, where the procession disbanded.

In the evening the same guild paraded their other dragon, a multi-coloured creature of gorgeous aspect, in Hongkong from West Point along Des Voeux Road West, Queen's Road West and Central, Central Market, Des Voeux Road Central, Bonham Strand East and West, Connaught Road Central, Murray Street, Arsenal Street, Johnstone Road, Hennessey Road, Lockhart Road, and back to central district, where the procession broke up.

HUNTING FOR WAR DEAD

BATTLEFIELD SEARCH PARTIES

Every week bodies of British soldiers are found in the old battlefields of France and Flanders, and 25 per cent. of them are identified from personal effects. They are buried in a few cemeteries kept open for the purpose. These facts are given in the 15th annual report of the War Graves Commission.

There is no sign of a decrease

"Empire Protection," veteran prize-winning English bull, makes this amusing study as he stands defiantly above two kittens, at a show in London.

Residents of the Camden Town section of London rubbed their eyes when they came upon a Victoria crossing a few mornings ago and saw the curb neatly raised off by stanchions and chains. This is the latest traffic innovation of Mr. Hore Bellaba, whose job is to reduce the pedestrian death rate. The idea of these rails is to keep the pedestrians from leaving the sidewalk in the centre of the block, making them cross at the crossings only.

The wedding was of a quiet nature and attended by members of the family and a few intimate friends.

In the number of bodies found on the battlefields," writes Sir Fabian Ware, Permanent Vice-Chairman of the Commission, in his introduction. "A recent analysis reveals the fact that 1,246 were found in 1934, an increase of 116 compared with 1933.

Some of these bodies are found by farmers when cultivating the land, some by official search parties organised by the French for the purpose of discovering French and German bodies, while others are found by the unemployed who collect scrap metal from the battlefields.

The discovery of a British grave is immediately reported to the Commission, and steps are taken for the reverent removal of the body to one of the War cemeteries.

CANTON ROBBERY

PAWNSHOP LOOTED:
$14,000 STOLEN

Canton, May 12.

A daring robbery was committed by six armed bandits late last night when a pawn shop named Fushang on the Honam Island side was looted. The bandits succeeded in making off with a booty totalling about $14,000 in value before the arrival of the police.—Central News Agency.

JAPANESE FLIER

MR. K. ANO DUE HERE ON MAY 19

A new air route to Japan will be followed by a 25-year-old Japanese flier, Mr. K. Ano, who left London on Sunday morning on an attempted solo flight to Tokyo. Cabled information of the airman's departure was received by Mr. K. Midzushima, Japanese Consul-General in Hongkong.

He is expected to arrive in Hongkong on Sunday, May 19, and depart for Shanghai the same day.

Flying an all-British Klemm "Eagle" monoplane, capable of 180 miles an hour, Mr. Ano will ignore the usual northerly course through Siberia, and will fly via Brussels, Belgrade, Baghdad, India, Hongkong, Formosa, and Osaka.

He is making the attempt as a private individual to explore the possibilities of a new, and less dangerous, route between England and Japan. He believes the trip will take between six and nine days.

A Less Dangerous Route

London, May 12.—Mr. Katsutaro Ano took off from Heston at 8.21 (British Standard Time) in his British Eagle machine in an attempt to make a record solo flight to Tokyo via Brussels, Vienna, Belgrade, Istanbul, Bagdad, Karachi, Calcutta, Rangoon, Bangkok, Hongkong, and Shanghai. It is understood that the object of the flight is to establish a new and less dangerous route between England and Japan.—Reuter.

Slight Mishap

Brussels, May 12.—Mr. Katsutaro Ano landed here at 10.42 a.m. and slightly damaged the under carriage of his machine. He will probably continue his flight on Monday.—Reuter.

HOSPITAL REPORTS

TUNG WAH DIRECTORS MEET AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

There was a big gathering of the permanent advisers of the Tung Wah Hospital and its associated hospitals at Government House last Friday, when they presented the annual report of the leading Chinese Hospital activities for the past twelve months to His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel.

Among the permanent advisers present were the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Mr. S. W. Tao, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Sir Robert Ho Tung and Messrs. Li Yau-tsun, Wong Kwong-tin, M. K. Lo, Fu Yick-pang, Li Po-wei and Tang Shiu-kin.

The 1934 Directors were present with their Chairman, Mr. Lau Ping-chai.

Mr. Lau Ping-chai represented the outgoing Directors and submitted his report of the work done during 1934, while Mr. Peter Sin spoke on behalf of the new Directors of 1935. Both reports referred to the administrative and financial conditions of the Hospitals.

After the speeches His Excellency suitably replied, thanking the departing Directors for their good work and welcoming the new Directors.

The Po Leung Kuk

Later in the morning the Directors of the Po Leung Kuk also met at Government House and Mr. Ng Yiu-wan the Chairman of the 1935 Directors, and Mr. Ng Wah (the Chairman of the 1934 Directors) both spoke on their work.

At the conclusion of their speeches His Excellency the Governor took occasion to express his appreciation of the excellent work done in 1934, also extending his welcome to the new Directors.

At both meetings the Chinese Directors took the opportunity to wish Sir William Peel and Lady Peel bon voyage on the forthcoming retirement of His Excellency.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

In a story that fairly sparkles with high romance, Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery will shortly be seen at the Queen's Theatre as co-stars for only the second time in their respective careers. The story is "Vanessa: Her Love Story" from the brilliant pen of the eminent novelist, Hugh Walpole. It is definitely listed among the better photoplays of the new season. Miss Hayes has never given a more sterling performance than as the heroine, Vanessa, who, blindly in love with Montgomery, is persuaded to accept a more suitable marriage to Otto Kruger, who is not able to forget her first love and manages to spend a few happy hours with him after Kruger insanely jealous has ordered her from his home. How she and Montgomery work out the tangled skein of their lives provides absorbing entertainment. Kruger as the madman gives an exceptional performance, ably assisted by others of the distinguished cast. Among these should be mentioned Henry Stephenson, May Robson, Donald Crisp, Mary Gordon, Jessie Ralph, Aileen Pringle and George K. Arthur as well as Lewis Stone. "Vanessa: Her Love Story" is recommended without qualifications as an excellent hour of entertainment. It is the latest production of David O. Selznick, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer who gave the screen "David Copperfield", "Little Women", "Dinner at Eight" and "Viva Villa" and other hits, and was directed by William K. Howard of "Cat and the Fiddle" fame.

"Sweet Adeline"

An audience which was left whistling with feet tapping and lips smiling, paid tribute to what is undoubtedly the greatest of all Warner Bros. musical spectacles, "Sweet Adeline," which opened for the first time locally at the Alhambra and Central Theatres yesterday. There is no mystery as to how Warner Bros., already famous for their remarkable musicals, surpassed their previous efforts. They took a clever operetta with the reputation of a five-week run on Broadway and gave it the kind of production treatment possible only to the Warner Bros. organization, provided as its star the charming Irene Dunne, gave her a cast which included four of the funniest comedians in films, and added to it the directing genius of Mervyn LeRoy and Bobby Connolly, master of dance spectacles. The result was an evening of perfect entertainment. The screen version retains the best of the original to which has been added much that is new and better, including two songs written particularly for this production, by Jerome Kern who, with Oscar Hammerstein II, wrote the operetta. Donald Woods is leading man in the role of the song writer in love with Miss Dunne. Louis Calhern is the villain, and a fine one. He is a remarkable actor. Winifred Shaw and Dorothy Dare sing and act beautifully.

"Red Morning"

Probably no woman in Hollywood has ever played a leading role throughout an entire picture with such an inexpensive wardrobe as Stefania Duna wears in "Red Morning," which will be shown locally at the King's Theatre on Wednesday. A generous estimate of the cost of Miss Duna's attire in this South Sea dramatic thriller is $10. In her role as a son-of-a-bitch's daughter, she dresses mostly in faded dungarees. Her dressiest outfit is a white linen skirt and shirt-waist. Her most interesting garb is the sarong, the native dress of Papuan belles. Miss Duna is featured in "Red Morning" with Regia Toomey, depicting an exciting romance against a background of action. The native sequences were taken in British New Guinea, but the story was fashioned in Hollywood studios on the RKO-Radio lot under Wallace Fox's direction.

"Crooner"

Brains count for far more than beauty in a girl's struggle for success in motion pictures, according to Ann Dvorak, according by Hollywood the title of the "Find of 1932" who takes the leading role in First National's "Crooner," a comedy drama which is now being featured at the Star Theatre. In "Crooner," Miss Dvorak enacts the role of the sweetheart of a boy who becomes famous overnight as a crooner, and then gets so up-stage he "high hats" her. The crooner is played by David Manners, whose unrivaled vanity elicits many laughs at his expense. Other members of the cast include Ken Murray, Claire Dodd, Guy Kibben, Allen Vincent, Edward Nugent, Sheila Terry, William Jannet, Betty Gillette, J. Carroll Nash, William Ricciardi and William Halligan. The story is a glamorous portrayal of night club life with scintillating satire from the pen of Rian James. It was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

"Midnight Alibi"

"Midnight Alibi," the First Nation al picture based on the story by Damon Runyon, author of "Lady For a Day," will be the feature attraction at the Alhambra Theatre on Wednesday. The story is one of the most unique romances that the famous writer has yet conceived, the principal characters being an elderly and aristocratic spinster and a New York racketeer. Helen Lowell, the noted Broadway star, has the former role, and is said to give an outstanding characterization, while Richard Barthelmess has the stellar role of the gangster. Barthelmess has a double role, also playing the part of the spinster's sweetheart of forty-five years before the real story actually starts. Ann Dvorak plays the part of his present day sweetheart while Helen Chandler has the role of Miss Lowell as a young girl. Others in the cast include Henry O'Neill, Robert Barrat, Robert McWade, Purnell Pratt, Harry Tyler and Paul Hurst.

"Marie Galante"

Ketti Gallian plays the title role in "Marie Galante," the vivid story of a French girl completely overcome by homesickness for her native land, which is now at the King's Theatre. Miss Gallian, "discovered" in London last year by Winfield Sheehan while playing the only feminine role in a current stage hit there, "The Ace" was the executive's ideal for the role of Marie Galante. He signed her to a contract, despite the fact that she spoke hardly half a dozen words of English. He also brought "The Ace" for use as her second screen vehicle. Miss Gallian learned English in three months. Margaret Knapp, who taught Anna Sien to speak English, was engaged as Miss Gallian's tutor, and the two girls took an apartment together. Between English lessons, Miss Gallian took exercise and massage treatments to remodel her figure, acclimated as perfect from the Continental viewpoint to conform to American screen demands.

A whist drive will be held in the Reading Room at Kowloon Docks on Tuesday, May 14, at 9 p.m. and fortnightly thereafter.

BYRD RETURNS

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION WELCOMED

Washington, May 11. Returning from his Antarctic Expedition, Admiral Byrd steamed up the Potomac River, and was welcomed by President Roosevelt, who congratulated him on behalf of the nation.

Admiral Byrd dined at the White House and stayed the night.

Marie Byrd Land

Washington, May 12. The President yesterday took part in the welcome to Admiral Byrd upon his return to Washington from the Antarctic. He told Admiral Byrd that his was no achievement of which the whole nation was proud.

Admiral Byrd told newspaper correspondents that he had taken possession of some 250,000 square miles of land for the United States, and had named it Marie Byrd Land, after his wife.

Of the four and a half months that he had spent alone at the advance base near the South Pole, Admiral Byrd said:

"I got a new outlook on life there. I thought several times that I wasn't coming out alive."

United Press.

Away for Nineteen Months

New York, May 12. Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd arrived here to-day aboard the Bear of Oakland, expedition flagship, from his second Antarctic trip.

Arriving here a year and seven months almost to the day after he set sail from Boston with 70 men, Admiral Byrd can look back on his time spent in the Antarctic as possibly the most fruitful in his long life of geographical exploration.

The expedition, Admiral Byrd's second to the Antarctic, set sail from Boston on September 25, 1933, aboard the Bear of Oakland, a reconditioned naval sailing vessel built in 1874.

The start was none too auspicious: the steering gear broke down a few minutes after the lines had been cast off, and the captain was left behind because he had neglected to get his master's certificate. There were also rumours, partially confirmed by Admiral Byrd, that he was in financial difficulties.

The expedition was not delayed, however, and the Jacob Ruppert supply ship of the expedition, sailed about a week later, joining the Bear of Oakland in Panama.

Arrival at Little America

They arrived at Little America in December, 1933, just as the ice packs were beginning to close in for the Antarctic winter. The two ships did not linger long, for fear of being caught in the ice, but returned to New Zealand as soon as unloaded, to await the coming of spring.

No sooner had the party landed than one of the expedition's planes was lowered over the side of the Ruppert and Byrd and Harold I. June, chief aviation pilot, made an exploratory flight over the Ross Sea, almost reaching the great ice barrier south of the sea.

Disaster threatened the expedition almost immediately. Difficulty was experienced in unloading supplies. A stiff northerly wind pushed the Jacob Ruppert against the ice face of the bay with such force that it was temporarily feared a few rivets had been started in her hull. Two of the five tractors caught fire, and two went out of commission because of engine trouble.

Preparations for Summer

During the long Antarctic winter, instruments were made ready for spring use, buildings were repaired, airplanes overhauled, and life in general settled down for a long wait. A measure of scientific exploration was continually carried on. Admiral Byrd established himself in a small hut, alone, 120 miles from Little America and south of it, and prepared to live through the winter in sub-zero solitude, making weather charts and recording scientific phenomena. He was left in his tiny hut on March 31, 1934. His intention of remaining alone for seven months fell short, however. A two-tractor scientific party set out on July 24 to make observations and recordings and to bring Admiral Byrd back with them.

The first tractor party had to turn back because of engine trouble. On August 13, the party reached Byrd, and decided to remain until he regained enough strength to attempt the trip back to Little America. It was not until the middle of December,

EXCHANGE OF AMBASSADORS

CHINA AND JAPAN IN AGREEMENT

Shanghai, May 13. Although the Chinese Government has virtually agreed with the Japanese Government in respect of the exchange of ambassadors between the two nations, the diplomatic authorities here appear to attach little importance to this move, and prefer to maintain silence.

It is learned that in reciprocating the appointment by Japan of Mr. Ariyoshi as first Japanese Ambassador to China, the Nanjing Foreign Office is expected to appoint Mr. Chiang Tso-pan, now Chinese Minister at Tokyo, as first Chinese Ambassador to Japan.

In an editorial comment, the Tokyo Asahi approved of Mr. Hirota's move in this direction as wise and appropriate, and said that China's diplomatic position would be better off if Britain and the United States were advised to follow this example.

In order not to clash with the ceremony of presenting farewell addresses to U.E. the Governor, at the University, the hour at which Madame Lottie Gordon's concert will be held in the Jacobson Room of the Hongkong Hotel to-morrow has been changed from 8.30 to 6.30 p.m. The concert is in aid of the Blind Home and the Empire Link Music Club, and instead of an admission charge being made, boxes will be available at the door, on the conclusion of the concert, for contributions.

The P. and O. liner Ranpara, with the English mails, is due here from Singapore at 9 a.m. on Wednesday.

Two cases each of Small-pox and Typhoid Fever were reported to the local Health authorities on Friday.

though, than an attempt was made to break through back to Little America.

Meanwhile, work of the expedition was being conducted methodically at the base. The autogiro made atmospheric-sounding and barometric flights; planes were dug from the snow; a tractor left for Edsel Ford range to lay out bases for future exploratory trips; a survey party spent 55 days on a newly-discovered plateau; many maps were made of hitherto uncharted mountain ranges and seas; another tractor party was trapped by crevasses for 19 days before an airplane found them, and pointed a way out; pilot June discovered a land mass east and south of Edsel Ford range, strengthening Admiral Byrd's belief that the range was once connected with the Andes; and traces of coal deposits were discovered many hundreds of feet under the ice.

On December 14, 1934, Commander H. F. Gertsen sailed from New York for New Zealand, from where he proceeded to Little America to take charge of the expedition's vessels. Admiral Byrd definitely announced that the expedition would break up as soon as conditions became such that the vessels could be loaded safely.

On February 6, 1935, all loading was completed, and the members of the party took their farewells of Little America, some twenty of them for the second time, and the two ships headed for Dunedin, New Zealand, where they obtained their first sight of land since leaving that place in 1933.—United Press.

KOWLOON WEDDING

MR. L. DE PINNA MARRIES MISS Y. BRITTO

On Saturday afternoon at the Rosary Church, Kowloon, the wedding took place of Miss Yolanda de Merlino Britto and Mr. Luiz Gonzaga de Pinna, the Rev. Father Rossi officiating at the ceremony.

The bride, who is a member of the staff of the Netherlands India Commercial Bank, is the daughter of the late Mr. J. M. Britto and Mrs. Britto. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. de Pinna, is connected with the Asiatic Petroleum Company.

Entering the Church on the arm of her brother, Mr. F. M. Britto of the China Underwriters Ltd., the bride looked charming in a white crepe satin gown trimmed with georgette, made by "L'Eclat." She carried a sheaf of Arum lilies.

Attending the bride were the Misses A. M. Britto and E. M. Xavier, groomed in printed blue organdy trimmed with white roses. They also carried Arum lilies.

The duties of best men were undertaken by Messrs. H. J. Silva, of Dedwell and Company, and F. P. Sedwell, of the B.A.T. The bride's mother wore printed georgette.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Club de Recreio, followed by a dance, the music being supplied by "The Troubadours."

On leaving for the honeymoon which is being spent at Canton and Meicun, Mrs. de Pinna wore a blue Arum silk gown made by "L'Eclat" with hat to match.

NEWFOUNDLAND RIOTS

UNEMPLOYED DEMONSTRATE AT ST. JOHN'S

St. John's, Newfoundland, May 11. Demonstrations against the smallness of the scale of relief for the unemployed has led to rioting, and, following a demonstration by unemployed, the police made a baton charge, during which many were injured.

After the police had dispersed the demonstrators the latter spread through the town, indulging in an orgy of window-smashing. The rioters cleaned out the entire stock of boots and shoes in one shop.

The police are patrolling the streets in motor-lorries, while steel helmets have been issued to them as a precautionary measure.

Nova Scotia Trouble

Nova Scotia, May 11.

A mob of unemployed demonstrators forced their way to the Town Hall and demanded an increase in the scale of relief. Mounted police, however, dispersed the crowd.

Three of the leaders were arrested and order restored, but Canadian Mounted Police are patrolling the streets.—Reuter.

BIG OPIUM SEIZURE

CONSIGNMENT INTERCEPTED ON KOWLOON WHARF

One of the largest seizures of contraband opium for several months past was made on a Kowloon Godown wharf on Saturday morning.

A consignment worth between $20,000 and $30,000 was intercepted prior to the sailing of the s.s. President Hayes.

The discovery was made when a Chinese passenger was stopped and compelled to open a suitcase. This was followed by other pieces of luggage being examined, when it was found that they were all packed tightly with tins of opium.

The Chinese passenger was arrested. He is credited with the intention of taking it aboard the President Hayes, which, later in the morning, left for Manila in continuance of her round-the-world voyage.

Flight is often caused by plain fright.

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was, "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. (John 3: 14, 15)."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For if by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. Therefore as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon men unto justification of life." (Romans 5: 17, 18).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is." (p. 171).

ARMED ROBBERY

KOWLOON TONG HOUSE ATTACKED

A house in the heart of the residential area of Kowloon Tong was the scene of a robbery which is being investigated by the Police.

Early yesterday morning, three Chinese gained entrance to No. 1 Cornwall Street, and robbed two women of jewellery and money to the total value of $581.

One of the women, Chan Kit-mui, aged 20, married, reported to the Police that she was awakened at 6.15 a.m. by a hand holding her throat. She tried to scream but was prevented. She saw two other men and all three men carried daggers.

After one of the robbers had torn off the jewellery she was wearing, he proceeded to ransack the room. She was bound and gagged.

The robbers then left her room and entered another room occupied by Ho Mo-ying, married woman, who was likewise bound and gagged.

After remaining on the premises for nearly 30 minutes—the three men departed.

The haul included six finger rings, two gold bangles, a gold and jade stone brooch, three pairs of spectacles and $23 in local currency.

MERCHANT WELCOMED.

INDIAN COMMUNITY PRESENT ADDRESS IN CASKET

Mr. Lalchand Watanmal, head of the firm of Messrs. Watanmal Brothers of Hongkong, China, Japan and India, and Mrs. Watanmal were the guests of honour at a largely attended tea party given by the Hindu Association at the Hongkong Hotel Roof Garden yesterday afternoon.

Mr. K. B. Valdia, President, was in the chair.

An address of welcome read by the President and, contained in a silver casket, was presented to Mr. Watanmal.

Replying, Mr. Watanmal expressed thanks on behalf of his wife and himself, and mentioned that he first visited the Colony in 1907 and again in 1929. He had witnessed rapid progress everywhere, and added it was his sincere wish that the Hindu Association would be the source of bringing together in friendship all the communities in the Colony.

Before the gathering dispersed, Mr. Valdia expressed thanks to Mr. O. A. Kaluzhny, manager of the Hotel, for the splendid arrangements made; the Hotel orchestra, and members and friends for their attendance at the function.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT KOTEWALL CUP CONTEST

INGLORIOUS END TO SEASON

FEW PEOPLE INTERESTED

HEAT AFFECTS ATTENDANCE

(By "Sagax")

UNDER a sweltering heat, relieved only by the gradual setting of the sun, the Hongkong football season was brought to a close yesterday afternoon when the Army won the Kotewall Charity Cup by beating the Royal Navy by five goals to two.

ON the previous day, the league season was terminated with Champions Rest matches on the Hongkong Football Club Ground, when both the Senior and Junior winners of the league were successful against representative sides.

WHEN the Hon. Mr. H. H. Kotewall, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Hongkong Football Association, walked into the empty enclosure at Causeway Bay yesterday afternoon and beheld his handsome trophy standing majestically on a table in front of the covered stand, he must have felt greatly disappointed to think that such a valuable cup presented by him should have attracted such a small crowd of spectators.

EVEN to describe the attendance as a "small crowd" is to exaggerate the number of people present for it was an extremely poor attendance and one that was worthy only of a second division league match.

A sprinkling of white jackets only just made itself discernible in the spacious stands but where was the Army? Was it out on manoeuvres or was it just a case of "couldn't be bothered"?

THE Council of the Hongkong Football Association must have felt somewhat ashamed of its organising abilities when a match in which the best talent in the Army and the Royal Navy can only draw a crowd estimated at approximately 400.

LITTLE doubt can remain that the heat has had a lot to do with the small attendance at the recent charity matches and it was a pity that they had been left to so late in the season. There is, of course, too much football crammed into six months in Hongkong but that is another question and one which might well be taken up by the organisers next season.

THE absence of Chinese football fans were due to two reasons:—(1) the absence of the Chinese team from the Causeway Bay match and (2) the presence of the Chinese team in a match at Caroline Hill where a side of Chinese from Swatow were being entertained.

OVERTURES. It is understood, were made to the South China Athletic Association to stage their match against Swatow at Causeway Bay as a preliminary to the Kotewall Cup Competition contest but the Chinese were reluctant to transfer the fixture.

SOUTH China fielded a second team against Swatow but the visitors gave a pleasing display and only lost by the odd goal in five. Those who watched the match saw the return to local football of Leung Yuk-tong, a former Hongkong international.

LEUNG first played for Hongkong against Shanghai in 1923 when he filled the left half position while in 1925 he was seen at right half.

ARMY TEAM WIN NEW CUP

BEAT ROYAL NAVY IN FINAL CONTEST

(By "Sagax")

Army.—Rowlands; Swain and Steele; Keneghan, Lawton and North; English, Higgins, Sandford, Ridley and Baldry.
Royal Navy.—Crocker; Beard and Moss; Hughes, McGuire and Lowe; Baxter, Rose, Cannell, Slavin and Wearmouth.

The charity football match between the Army and the Royal Navy in the Kotewall Cup Competition at Causeway Bay yesterday afternoon brought the local soccer season to an official close for another six months. The Army who had already beaten South China, the only competitors in this newly organised competition, won from the Navy by five goals to two and at the conclusion of the match Ridley received the Cup from Mrs. Kotewall while members of the winning team were handed small cups as souvenirs.

Prior to the commencement of the match the teams were presented to Commodore C. G. Sedgewick.

The heavy rain of the early afternoon, brief though it was, was sufficient to make the ground slippery and prevent the players from giving of their best, with the result that the standard was not as high as it would otherwise have been.

Science, particularly during the early stages of the game, gave way to robust football and many promising movements were nullified by the conditions. The players had all their work cut out to keep a pass away from an opponent, the wet state of the ground making ball control a difficulty.

During the opening half the Army forwards were not the dangerous force that they subsequently proved to be and they were somewhat fortunate to have scored the only goal of the half. Combination was lacking and except for Baldry, who was responsible for the point, there was rarely a man who looked though he was likely to prove a menace to the Navy defence.

Baldry was neglected by the Navy defenders throughout the match and he and Ridley, who improved after the interval to take the principal honours of the match, formed a practically unstoppable left flank once the ball was sent down the wing. Hughes, McGuire and Beard did not devote much attention to the Army left wing and many of the openings were made by Baldry and Ridley in Sandford improved the game progressed and inspired his forwards with more confidence than during the opening stages when one or two absolutely open goals were missed.

Higgins and English were not as fast footed as Ridley's left wing forwards but they put in some good work and constantly worried Moss, who, however, was equal to almost every move by the Army forwards. He played a sound game at back but received little support from the men in front of him.

CANNELL CONSISTENT

Swain and Steele worked hard in the Army defence and had their work lightened by a destructive half back line, while Rowlands, in goal, brought off many brilliant saves and, to a great extent, held the Navy forwards down to two goals.

GREAT SHOTS IN GOLF

DESCRIBED WIZARDRY OF VIC GHEZZI

ACCURACY IN PUTTING

ADVICE TO THE INEXPERIENCED

If it hadn't been for a driving rain that started on the fifteenth hole during the International Four-Ball matches at Miami, slowing up the greens, Vic Ghezzi and Willie Klein might have been victorious over the eventual winners, Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard.

Ghezzi was displaying the same wizardry that defeated Revolta just a few weeks previous in the Los Angeles Open.

It was Ghezzi's putting that consistently pulled him out of the hole in the Southern California tournament. At the end of the first nine holes of the final round, Ghezzi trailed Revolta by four strokes. Few gave much heed to the patiently plodding Ghezzi, who was hitting the ball far and putting with brilliant confidence.

Coming to the fifteenth, about

A NEW SERIES OF GOLF ARTICLES BY ART KRENZ

150 yards long, the lanky professional of Dean, N. J., had whittled away at Revolta's lead until he was within striking distance. With a No. 7 iron, he laid the ball on the green 18 feet from the cup. Displaying the putting touch that had gained second place in the California Open, he sank the putt for a birdie two to pick up another stroke on the fast fading Revolta, who, on the tenth hole, looked like a sure winner.

Ghezzi barely missed another birdie on the sixteenth. He birdied the seventeenth, and finished with a 71 to tie Revolta. In the playoff the next day, Revolta saw too much of Ghezzi's keen stroking, and succumbed by the score of 73-75.

"It was Clarence Clark who straightened out my putting," declares Ghezzi. "He advised me to break my wrist in the backswing, instead of taking the club back with an arm movement."

"In putting, I would advise the player to get the line, keep the head still, and not think of stroking the ball, but of hitting it. The putter should be worked like a pendulum. The face should be closed in the backswing, yet the blade should be kept at right angles to the hole at all times."

MIXED DOUBLES TENNIS

League Fixtures Start This Afternoon

(By "Sagax")

A start will be made this afternoon in the annual lawn tennis league competitions and as last year, matches are to be played on week days only.

Today the mixed doubles teams will take the courts and although only three clubs have entered for the Dunlop Shield there are again four teams, the Kowloon C. C. having signified their intention to field a second combination in the place of the Ladies' Recreation Club.

There have been changes in the "A" and "B" Division fixtures owing to the withdrawal from the Senior Division of the South China Athletic Association, and the admission of the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club into the newly formed fourth division.

I understand that the South China A. A. have found it impossible to raise the senior team they had intended owing to some of their members wishing to play for the Chinese Recreation Club.

In the Mixed Doubles League this afternoon the Kowloon C. C. "A" team entertain the U. S. R. C. while the Chinese R. C. receive a visit from the Kowloon C. C. "B" side.

PETERSEN FIGHT

MEETING NEUSEL IN JUNE

London, April 20.
Jack Petersen and Walter Neusel will have their return match (15 rounds) at Wembley in June.

The German flew from Paris to London on Thursday and signed the contract for a contest which should be one of the biggest fights of the year. Mr. C. B. Thomas will be the referee. He is a Welshman, but the German boxer wished him to officiate, and this was agreed to.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL MATCHES

RAIN INTERFERES WITH TIES

TOP NATIONAL TEAMS WIN

New York, May 12.
Baseball matches in the United States continue to be interfered with by rain and to-day three American League fixtures had to be postponed.

The National League programme was fulfilled, the four top teams all winning at the expense of the bottom clubs.

Results as cabled by Reuter follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	1	4	2
New York	3	9	1
Cincinnati	1	9	2
Brooklyn	9	14	2
St. Louis	10	16	2
Philadelphia	8	16	0
Chicago	4	12	0
Boston	1	7	1

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	2	6	0
St. Louis	3	9	2

The matches Washington Senators v. Cleveland Indians, New York Giants v. Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics v. Chicago White Sox were postponed on account of rain.

Lawn Bowls Contests

PAIRS FIXTURES FOR TO-DAY

(By "Sagax")

Seven more matches are down for decision in the first round of the Open Lawn Bowls Pairs Championship this afternoon. It is expected that the preliminary round matches will be all concluded by to-morrow. There are no matches of outstanding interest, with the game between W. E. Hollands and E. G. Post and M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh being the best of the bunch. This fixture will be played on the Hongkong Football Club Green.

The following is to-day's programme:

SERIAL STORY

The DARK BLOND

by CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

MILICENT GRAVES, secretary to OSOUBE DUNSTON, finds her employer in his office dead. Millicent has a notebook in which Dunstons had begun to dictate a confession.

In panic she rushes away, registers at a hotel under an assumed name.

JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty parlour where she is transformed into a blond, then takes her home and introduces her as his secretary. She meets Happs son, NORMAN, his stepson, ROBERT, and MISS HAPP.

Millicent fails asleep and wakes to find a note under her door testifying "The woman in black" is here. Millicent dresses, sees the woman in black drive away and follows in Robert Caise's car, but runs out of gas. She goes to the chauffeur's quarters and finds the woman in black.

Next morning Jarvis Happs tells her the chauffeur has been murdered and shows her a handkerchief (Millicent's) which he found in the dead man's room.

Robert Caise enters Millicent's room.

CHAPTER XVI

Millicent held her hand close to her side, hoping she had concealed the key container which was pressed against her robe.

"Will you learn to keep out of my room!" she blazed with an indignation which did much to conceal her panic. "Is it going to be necessary for me to have a spring lock put on that door, or must I appeal to your mother to force you to show at least ordinary decency and respect to a woman?"

He laughed and said, "Oh, come off your high horse. You'd go down to a beach in a bathing suit with nothing more on than a bandana handkerchief, and I'm not down at the beach."

she said, "and if I were I would exhibit myself in such apparel as I chose for public exhibition. I wouldn't invite the public to drop in on me on an inopportune moment."

"Will you please get out of here?"

The smile faded from his face and he became instantly surly. "I'll get out of here," he said, "when I get damn good and ready."

"Then get ready now," she told him.

"I'm going to ask you a few questions first."

"I'm not going to talk with you." "Did you know that there'd been a murder committed here last night?"

Millicent narrowed her eyes, stood very straight, very erect and very dignified.

"I am not going to let you get away with such an intrusion," she said, "by making any startling statements. If you told me the whole family had been murdered, I wouldn't let you dodge the question we were discussing."

"What question?"

"Your right to come into my room without knocking."

"I don't claim it's a right. I did it because it's a matter of an emergency."

"I tell you that I'm not going to allow you to distract my attention."

"You're suspected."

His eyes were boring steadily into hers. "The police," he said, "are going to suspect you. They're going to suspect everyone. You're going to be questioned by the police. They're going to ask you who you are, where you've been living, how long you've been living there, and a hundred other things. What are you going to tell them?"

"What I'm going to tell them," she said, "is my business."

"You don't dare to tell them the truth."

"Why not?"

"Because they'll know that you're the girl wanted for Dringold's murder."

She faced him and said, "I've heard just about enough of that from you. You've apparently been giving yourself a lot of pleasure doing a little amateur detective work. Personally, I think that's gone just about far enough. Now get out of here."

"Listen," he told her. "I'm your friend—that is, I want to be your friend, but you and I need to come to some understanding. You can't be high and mighty with me. I just wanted to let you know that whether or not the police suspect you of the murder depends a lot on what I say. You'd better know which side of your bread has the butter."

"Meaning, I suppose, that I should fall in with you?"

"You could do worse."

"What would your mother say?"

"She wouldn't know."

"I take it then that you're not proposing matrimony."

"Don't be silly."

"I'm not," she said, "and what's more, I have no intention of being."

"Someone," he told her, "stole my car last night."

"Indeed?"

"They took the ignition keys from the car."

"Then perhaps it wasn't the car they were stealing, but the keys."

"No, they stole the car. It ran out of gas and whoever it was took the car kept the keys."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Caise, but I'm not interested in you or your car."

"Well," he said, "a moment ago you were pulling something out of the pocket of your fur coat and..."

He took a step toward her, reaching out as though to pull her right hand from her side.

Millicent thought rapidly. There was only one thing to do. She did it with bewildering quickness. Her left hand lashed out, striking him across the side of the face with a stinging slap. As he recoiled she slapped him again and again. He grabbed at her arm, and as he did so she took advantage of the opportunity to toss the key container far into the interior of the closet.

"Get out," she said, "or I'll scream."

He had caught her arm now. His face was suffused with emotion.

"Damn you," he said, "I'll show you whether you can do that and get away with it."

Just who do you think you are, you little she-devil?"

He twisted her arm until she half-screamed with pain.

"Now come up here," he said, "and give me a kiss."

She struggled to break free, and he gave her arm such a savage twist that it almost broke the bones. Despite herself, an involuntary scream was wrung from her lips.

The door, from the hall crashed open. Norman Happs stood on the threshold.

He had no need to ask the meaning of what was taking place. The positions of the two people told him all too plainly: Millicent Graves, her body twisted, trying to take as much strain as possible from her arm, while Robert Caise, standing over her gloatingly, his face flushed, was twisting the arm and deriving apparent pleasure from the torture.

"You dirty cad!" Norman Happs said, striding across the room.

"You whorled to face him."

"You keep out of this," he said.

"You damned upstart!" Norman Happs placed his right hand on the shoulder of Caise's coat. His fingers gripped the cloth.

"Wait a minute," Caise said, "before you do anything rash. See what she's got in her right hand and you won't be so chivalrous."

Caise had relaxed his grip somewhat, and Millicent swung her right palm in a slap against the side of his face.

"That's what I've got in my palm, you beast!" she said.

Caise cursed, jumped back, letting go his grip of her. He completely lost control of himself, and swung his fist at her chin.

Millicent flung up her hands instinctively. The blow crashed through her guard, struck her on the side of the head. Then she heard the smacking impact of bunched knuckles against a bone. She opened her eyes and stared dazedly at Robert Caise staggering backwards, while Norman Happs, standing with his feet planted wide apart, his jaw thrust belligerently forward, glowered at him.

Caise had relaxed his foot of the bed to keep his balance.

"I'll get out of here," he said. "When she tells me to, and not before. And if she tells me to, she knows what it's going to mean."

Millicent felt Norman Happs's eyes turn toward hers dubiously.

"Don't think she's one of these sweet, innocent little girls," Caise said. "She's got plenty to conceal."

"Get out!" Happs said.

"Not until she tells me to," Caise said.

By way of answer, Millicent walked to the door, stood with her hand on the knob, and said, "Get out."

"All right," Caise sneered. "I'll leave you with your little boy here. You can figure out how much good it's going to do both of you."

"Trying to insinuate that you've got something on the girl?" Happs asked.

"I've got plenty on her," Caise said. "And when I leave here, I'm taking it with me."

"I've got plenty on her," Caise said. "And when I leave here, I'm taking it with me."

"Take this with you, too," Happs said, and swung his right foot.

But Caise jumped into the hallway ahead of the foot. Millicent Graves slammed the door shut, turned the key in the lock, turned to face Norman Happs.

"Thank you," she said. "I—er—"

"Has he got something on you?" Norman Happs asked.

"Perhaps," she said.

"Something you'd be afraid to have come out?"

She wanted to lower her eyes, yet could not tear them from him. She knew how a faithful dog feels when it has done wrong and is approaching its master. Her knees felt weak.

"Can you tell me what it is?" he asked.

"No," she said in a low, weak voice.

"My father," he said, "told me to come to you. He couldn't get away. He's talking with the officers. He said to remember that you had come here from Seattle, that in Seattle you were working for an attorney named Irving Charles Bachelder."

"She faced him and said, 'But I wasn't in Seattle and I don't know any Irving Charles Bachelder.'"

"Nevertheless," he said, "that's what my father says you are to tell the police. They'll ask you something about where you've been."

"But suppose they should wire Mr. Bachelder—if there is any such person?"

"My father," he said, "will take care of that. Please do just as he says."

"But," she asked him, "should I lie to the police?"

He looked at her for a moment.

"You'd better do as Father says," he told her. "Father is nearly always right."

She wanted desperately to come to his arms, wanted to put her hands on his shoulders, wanted to lay her head on his chest and sob.

Something of what was in her mind must have shown in her eyes. He stepped toward her.

At that moment the door opened. Robert Caise stood on the threshold. With him was a man in plain clothes who, nevertheless, had the stamp of detective written on him, both in clothes and features.

"Is this the woman?" the man asked.

Robert Caise, staring defiantly at Millicent, said in a loud, clear voice, "This, officer, is the woman."

CONFERENCES IN EUROPE

FRANCE AND POLAND DISCUSS RELATIONS

Warsaw, May 11. M. Laval, French Foreign Minister, arrived here en route to Moscow and was met by Colonel Joseph Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, the Minister of War, and other Polish dignitaries. Reuter.

Conversations Begin

Warsaw, May 12. The conversations between M. Laval and the Polish Government proceeded to-day in a friendly but frankly uninterested atmosphere on part of the Poles.

M. Laval paid a round of visits, including a call on the Premier, M. Slawek and the President M. Moscicki.

The conversations with the Foreign Minister, Colonel Beck began this morning but there is no official statement issued with regard to their progress.

Despite the fact that the atmosphere is friendlier than hitherto, it is generally felt that an Eastern Pact is dead as far as Poland is concerned.

The Polish police received information last night from the French secret police that an attempt would be made on M. Laval's life, and therefore the most stringent precautions have been taken. Reuter.

International Collaboration

Warsaw, May 12. Little light is thrown upon future Franco-Polish relations by the communiqué issued at the close of the Laval-Beck conversations.

The communiqué refers to the frank and cordial exchange of views, and says that both ministers realized the community of their efforts in the cause of peace and of European security by the organization of wide international collaboration open to all. It adds that the ministers congratulate themselves on their ability to place at the service of peace this desire for strong solidarity, as expressed by the Franco-Polish alliance. Reuter.

M. Laval Leaves for Moscow

Warsaw, May 12. M. Laval left here for Moscow at 9.40 a.m. being seen off at the Station by Colonel Beck, the Minister for Foreign Affairs and the French Ambassador to Poland. Reuter.

Italy And Austria

Florence, May 12. Signor Mussolini has arrived, piloting his own plane, for the conference with Dr. Schuschnigg, Chancellor of Austria, who is reported to have said that Nazi

HONGKONG JUBILEE PICTURES

Supplement Copies Available

There was an extremely heavy demand for copies of Saturday's Telegraph Pictorial Supplement containing nearly thirty pictures of the local Jubilee celebrations, the whole issue being completely sold out.

Further copies have, however, now been printed and these are available at ten cents each. They are ideal for sending to friends at home. Early application is desirable, as the demand still continues.

ENJOYABLE EVENING

SUPPER AND CONCERT AT KOWLOON R.G.C.

An enjoyable evening was spent by members of the Kowloon Bowling Club and their friends on Saturday when a supper and smoking concert were arranged in connection with the King's Jubilee.

Mr. W. E. Hale, Vice-President of the Club, presided over the function. In a short speech, he congratulated the Club's Sub-Committee on their splendid work during Jubilee week and their efforts that night.

Mr. Hale also referred to Mr. T. F. Bradford's forthcoming departure from the Colony on retirement and paid a tribute to the latter's work in connection with the Club during his stay in Hongkong.

Following the supper, Messrs. W. Woodward, R. Sander, A. R. Brumby, C. B. Hosking, J. G. Meyer and others contributed to an enjoyable concert.

activities in Austria are intensifying.

It is reported that Signor Mussolini has approved Austrian rearmament. He returned to Rome by aeroplane. United Press.

Hapsburg Restoration

Florence, May 12. The meeting between Mr. Mussolini and Dr. Schuschnigg lasted for two hours and according to the official communiqué there was full identity of views.

It is understood that the matters discussed included, firstly, the question of maintaining the Austrian Government in power and the menace of Nazi propaganda; secondly, the question of the formula regarding non-interference in Austrian independence to be laid before the Danubian Conference to be held at Rome; thirdly, the problem of reconciling the different points of views of Hungary and the Little Entente regarding the rearmament of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria; and fourthly the question of the restoration of the monarchy. Reuter's Special.

SIR WILLIAM PEEL'S DEPARTURE

STREETS TO BE LINED WITH TROOPS

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Naval and Military authorities to give His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, and Lady Peel, a fitting send-off when they leave on the Empress of Japan next Friday afternoon.

Troops drawn from the East Lancashire Regiment, the Punjab Regiment and the Royal Welch Fusiliers will line the route along Garden Road, Queen's Road and Jackson Road from the Helena May Institute. The Royal Navy and East Lancashire Regiment will provide a guard of honour which will be in position on the south side of Connaught Road facing Queen's Pier, with the band of the Lincolnshire Regiment formed up in Wardley Street facing the Pier.

The arrival of His Excellency will be preceded by that of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir Frederic C. Dreyer, and Commodore C. G. Sedgwick.

His Excellency the Governor will arrive at 2.30 p.m. escorted by a mobile unit of the Hongkong Volunteers, and as he alights from his car the "Present" will be ordered and the Lincolnshire Regiment Band will play six bars of the National Anthem.

H.E. will then board his launch and a salute of 17 guns will be fired by the H.K.S.R.A. A similar salute will be fired by the Navy as the launch crosses the Harbour.

Ships Companies will man warships as the Empress of Japan passes down the Harbour and as the vessel passes through Lyemum channel men of the 12th Heavy Battery will cheer from Lyemum Fort.

Public Meeting

To-morrow at 5.30 p.m. punctually, in the Great Hall of the University, an address of farewell to His Excellency the Governor, on behalf of the community generally, will be read by the Senior Unofficial Member, the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., after which a farewell address on behalf of the Chinese Community will be read (in the absence through illness of the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow) by the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D.

His Excellency the Governor will reply to both these addresses and the proceedings will then terminate.

As the function is a public one, all who wish to attend, including ladies, are invited.

It will greatly facilitate the seating arrangements if those desiring to be present will kindly arrive before 5.15 p.m.

Lounge suits will be worn by those attending.

U.S. MAY ALTER SILVER POLICY

TREASURY CHIEF TO EXPLAIN

GROWING GOLD STOCKS CAUSE COMPLICATION

Washington, May 12.
Financial circles and businessmen are expecting Mr. Morgenthau's broadcast to-morrow to include some important announcement regarding the monetary policy.

This is due to the alleged inability of the Treasury to carry out the United States Congress silver purchase mandate in the face of the soaring gold stocks which are at present at the highest value in history, which is around eight billion dollars.

The Treasury has announced that the broadcast will be nation-wide at 11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and that the subject of the speech will be "The American Dollar."

Purchases of gold are increasing rapidly, and for this reason the silver programme is considered impossible.

Recently silver prices abroad have drastically declined and because of this competent observers regard it as being very possible that Mr. Morgenthau will announce a plan to solve the silver problem and also to put an end to the monetary policies in respect to silver.—United Press.

AID TO INFLATION

New York, May 12.
The New York Guaranty Trust Company, in a pamphlet sent out to its stockholders, says that the last barriers against inflation of the United States currency, similar to the wiping out of the German mark, would be removed by the passage of the Banking Bill in its present form.

The pamphlet states that the passage of the Bill does not necessarily mean that the future of the dollar would be a duplication of the repudiation of the German mark but that it would make such a move possible.—United Press.

Further the Treasury says that the speech will review the New Deal monetary policies.

However, financial observers are firm in the belief that the Secretary of the Treasury will make one of his most important pronouncements and also that he may take the opportunity of answering the critics of the Administration's policies.

AMERICAN OUTLOOK

Washington, May 11.
The Patman Bonus Bill in its present form will probably be killed. The old plan to pay the bonus from the Work Relief Fund may be revived.

Any effective extension of the N.R.A. is unlikely.

There will be no new cotton policy declared before August 1.

A perfunctory speech from Mr. Henry Morgenthau on Monday night is expected, probably reviewing results of monetary experiments to date, without any announcement of the future monetary policy.

There are no new silver plans contemplated for a fortnight.

Farm incomes are estimated at seven billions, with drought damage probably less than expected.

Current business optimism is widespread, based on good first quarter earnings, plus high hopes for the autumn.—Sloan, Gilbertson and Fritz.

B. I. S. SHOWS PROFIT

PAYING HANDSOME DIVIDEND

Basle, May 12.
The Bank of International Settlements has closed the financial year of 1934/35 with a profit of $371,000.

Over half of this sum will be distributed to shareholders as a six per cent. dividend.

Over forty bankers have arrived here from Europe, America and Japan for to-morrow's general meeting of shareholders.—Reuter.

AIR FLEET TO ATTACK HONOLULU

MASSIVE ARMADA TO MANOEUVRE

400 AIRCRAFT TO BE USED

(Special to "Telegraph")

Honolulu, May 12.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, May 12, 10.45 a.m.)

One of the most sensational air "actions" in the history of the world will be seen over Hawaii's capital shortly during the combined Army and Navy manoeuvres off this port. It was announced to-day.

Over 400 aircraft of all sorts and sizes will participate in a night attack on Honolulu, working in conjunction with a powerful fleet of almost fifty warships.

The defence forces are to be tested in anti-aircraft tactics. Admiral Reeves, in command of the American fleet, manoeuvring in the Pacific, is at present conferring with Major-General Drum, who commands the Hawaiian Department of combined Army and Navy units. These two are planning the great raid. The date of attack has not been divulged.

Meanwhile, the fleet of forty-six United States Navy flying boats, which left Pearl Harbour Friday, reached Midway Island on Saturday, after a brief halt for food and fuel at Frigate Shoals.—United Press.

Soviet Plane Fired On

FLIES OVER FORTIFIED MANCHUKUO TOWN

Harbin, May 12.
A Manchukuo official communiqué, issued to-day, states that a Soviet Army plane was sighted over the city of Suifenho, in Manchukuo territory, at 10 o'clock this morning.

The plane flew at a very low altitude and was fired upon by the anti-aircraft guns of the local garrison forces.—Central News.

SOME RAIN

A strong anticyclone is centred to the north-east of Hokkaido and a weak anticyclone covers East China. A depression is situated to the west of the Bonin Islands, moving eastward, and pressure is relatively low over S. W. China and Indo-China. Local forecast:—East winds, moderate to fresh; cloudy, some rain.

The above picture, showing Signor Mussolini greeting Mr. Ramsay MacDonald on his arrival at Stresa for the conference between Italy, Britain and France, is of peculiar interest now that Anglo-French representations are being made to Italy regarding the Abyssinian crisis.

PLANE DIVES INTO SEA

New York, May 12.

Two accidents marked the closing stages of the United States naval manoeuvres, the last set of which was the voyage of forty-two warships from San Francisco to Hawaii.

During the voyage one seaman was killed and three were injured when two destroyers collided during patrol exercises in which they were engaged in guarding against an hypothetical submarine attack.

Another fatality occurred when a fast scout plane, taking off from the flying deck of the aircraft carrier Saratoga, plunged into the ocean and disappeared instantly, without leaving a trace. There is no explanation for this mishap.—Reuter.

DETAILED REPORT

The United Press provides details of the report:

The destroyer Lea cleaved through the destroyer Sicard's starboard funnel, making a shambles of the latter's after-deck, at 3.48 a.m., a mile off Diamond Head.

Gunner's Mate Richard Chadwick was instantly killed and four were seriously injured, all aboard the Sicard.

The collision occurred when twenty-four destroyers were steaming towards Honolulu with Admiral Reeves' battle force of forty-two vessels, which arrived in Honolulu this morning.

Steaming at fifteen knots, and unlighted, the Lea proceeded to Pearl Harbour drydock, leaving a trail of oil. Her bow was crumpled. The Sicard is still lying outside. An inquiry is pending.

AIRMAN'S DEATH

On Saturday, Junior Lieutenant Matthias R. Wyatt, flying a pursuit plane, plunged to his death just after taking off from the deck of U.S.S. Saratoga. It is believed that Wyatt's propeller struck the tail of the plane which left the ship just ahead of him.

NATIONAL PARTY FOR N.Z.

POLITICAL GROUPS AMALGAMATE

ELECTION AHEAD

(Special to "Telegraph")

Wellington, May 13.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, May 13, 10 a.m.)

A National Government for New Zealand is foreshadowed by the announcement that the permanent amalgamation of the two most powerful political parties in the Dominion has been effected.

These parties, the United Party, led by the Prime Minister, Mr. George William Forbes, and the Reform Party, led by the Minister of Lands, Mr. E. A. Ransom, are by far the most solidly established in the country.

They will contest the forthcoming general election as Nationalists.—Reuter Special.

R. A. Officer Found Shot

BULLET WOUND IN THE HEAD

A distressing discovery was made in the R.A. officers' mess at Stonecutters Island shortly after 10 o'clock last night, when Lieutenant Francis Dolgarno Gilliot de Berthilleux, of the 24th Heavy Battery R.A., was found shot through the head.

No details are at the moment available, beyond the fact that he was found dead from a bullet wound in the head in his room at the mess.

The deceased officer, who was unmarried, came to Hongkong in January of last year and was extremely popular amongst his colleagues.

He leaves a mother, who resides at "Rowanhurst," Havant, Hampshire.

The victim of the tragedy was 24 years of age. The police have been informed of the incident and are at the moment making enquiries.

American Ambassador For China?

WASHINGTON STILL CONSIDERING

MAY FOLLOW JAPAN LEAD

(Special to "Telegraph")

Washington, May 12.
State Department officials to-day stated that the question of the United States exchanging ambassadors with China was not being considered at present.

They drew attention to the fact that Italy raised the status of her diplomatic chief in China last year, but that did not necessitate America following suit. In the present case, with Japan naming Mr. Ariyoshi her first Ambassador to China, it did not follow that the United States would elevate its Minister at Nanking.

However, well-informed persons believe that in view of the traditional friendship of the United States and China it is likely that the United States will ultimately send an Ambassador to Nanking, particularly in view of the fact that nations with Ambassadors in China would permanently outrank the United States in diplomatic circles there.—United Press.

S'hai Market Steady

AWAITING AMERICAN DECLARATION

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, May 13.
The Foreign Exchange Market is steady at 9.30 a.m. due to the rise in London and Bombay silver on Saturday.

Trading, however, is very dull due to the impending Policy announcement by Mr. Henry Morgenthau, the Secretary of the U.S. Treasury.

Also traders are awaiting the Gold Bar changeover. U.S. dollars are 41½, having opened at 41½, and Sterling is 1/8.3/16, opening at 1/8½. Gold Bars are $784.50.

The market was absolutely dead at the close of the morning session with rates unchanged. Gold Bars were $784.10.—United Press.

POLAND MOURNS NATIONAL HERO

GREATEST FIGURE IN HER HISTORY

MARSHAL PILSUDSKI DIES SUDDENLY

With the death of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, War Minister and Dictator of Poland, announced to-day, it was feared that some political crisis might arise. The Government, however, having appointed a temporary War Minister, and having recently put into force the new Constitution which Pilsudski himself approved, feels confident in its strength.

The President has issued a proclamation calling upon the nation to remember "this man, the greatest our history has ever known," and to make the most of his legacy. All Poland is in deepest mourning.

It was a remarkable coincidence that the Marshal died on the ninth anniversary of his historic putsch, by which he took control of the country and stabilised the Government. Members of his family and his Cabinet were at his bedside when he died.

Warsaw, May 12.

Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, Poland's "dictator," died at 9.30 o'clock to-night from a kidney disorder. He was sixty-seven years of age and as the Government's "sheet anchor" he had served his country notably, particularly since the Great War.

He was one of the most picturesque figures in Europe and was the creator of the modern Poland.

One of the most powerful and fearless of workers for Polish liberation before and during the Great War, he became a national hero and a figure of world prominence during his historic putsch of 1926. It was a remarkable coincidence that to-day was the anniversary of that daring piece of strategy, nine years ago.

Since the day of the putsch, Marshal Pilsudski has occupied the titular post of Minister for War, but he has been in reality the power behind the scenes. He has assumed publicity and even appearances in public, but always his strength and clear vision have guided Poland through the crises of recent years.

Reports of Marshal Pilsudski's illness have been current for some time, but he was well enough to receive Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Lord Privy Seal, during his recent visit to Eastern European capitals. He was too ill, however, to meet M. Pierre Laval, the French Foreign Minister, who passed through Warsaw yesterday on his way to Moscow.

It was announced on May 9 that the Marshal was suffering from serious uremia.—Reuter.

ENEMY OF RUSSIA

Marshal Pilsudski was a bitter enemy of Russia, and when only 19 years of age was sent to Siberia for five years for plotting for the overthrow of the Russian yoke.

He was born at Vilna and on his native soil had a strong following among the young men. In 1907 he formed a secret army but was forced to flee the country before the time for an uprising was ripe.

In the Great War he sided with the Central Powers but not because he particularly loved Germany. He wished to be free from Russia. When the Czarist regime collapsed, Pilsudski suddenly turned against the German-Austrian combination, seeking to drive those nations off Polish soil. He succeeded very satisfactorily, from his point of view.

FOUGHT SOVIET

In 1919 he became the head of the provisional Government when, by the Treaty of Versailles, Poland was restored in 1919. He succeeded Paderewski as President in December of that year. He resigned from office three years later, but only after he had made war with the Soviet and driven the encroaching Red forces out of Polish territory. In 1926 he came back into the public eye by smashing the Witos administration. Since then he has been Poland's dictator much.

Doctors Advise This Natural Way to Make Child Hungry
...Restore Buoyant Health!

Almost all child ailments that cause mothers so much worry are due to just one thing—authorities call it the intestinal absorption of poisons. This distressing condition occurs even when child's habits may seem regular. The stomach is upset. The child won't eat... becomes nervous and cross.

Now this insidious condition can be corrected naturally and quickly with a little Castoria which tastes so very good, children beg for it.

This remarkable preparation swiftly purges the system, banishes poisons, settles the stomach and improves digestion. Then Nature does the rest. Appetite returns. Disposition improves. And soon the child is again sturdy, healthy and sunny.

GREYNA
SCANDALCLANDESTINE AND IRREGULAR WEDDINGOVERTURE TO ASSEMBLY

The large number of irregular marriages in Scotland, and the continued "scandal" of clandestine marriages at Greytna Green, caused expressions of concern at a meeting of the Synod of Dumfries of the Church of Scotland, held at Dumfries not long ago.

The Synod agreed to make overtures to the General Assembly to renew their appeal to the Government for legislation, giving to the marriage law of Scotland all proper safeguards. It was stated that although the attention of the Secretary of State had been drawn to this matter in 1930, no change in the law had yet taken place.

The terms of the Synod's overture are as follows:—

"Whereas the General Assembly in 1929 and 1930 expressed concern at the large number of irregular marriages in Scotland, and at the continued scandal of the clandestine marriages at Greytna Green, and gave instructions that the attention of the Secretary of State for Scotland be drawn to this serious matter with a view to promoting legislation for amendment of the Scottish marriage law; and whereas no change in the law has yet taken place, though the scandal complained of continues, with consequences even more harmful to the moral and social wellbeing, it is humbly overtured by the Synod of Dumfries to take these premises into their consideration, and to renew their appeal to His Majesty's Government for legislation which will give to the marriage law of Scotland all proper safeguards, or to do otherwise as in their wisdom might seem fit."

MANY UNREGISTERED

The Rev. D. E. Auty, Castle Douglas, who moved that the Synod put forward the overture, said that the great percentage of irregular marriages at Greytna were unregistered owing to the difficulty of having to go to Dumfries for a Sheriff's warrant and back again to Greytna to complete the schedule.

The Church in 1930 declared her belief that these marriages, which were contracted by all grades of society, were not for the common weal, and that a considerable proportion of bigamous marriages had in their history a visit to Greytna.

The absence of registration in the national registers of the vast majority of Greytna marriages often had dire consequences both to these so married and to their children.

The Church, therefore, believed that the matter had reached such scandalous proportions as to call for legislation. They also believed the sentiment of Scotland was against the continuance of Greytna Green marriages.

The Assembly, he continued, proposed in 1930 that the basis of the marriage law of Scotland, which was by mutual consent of parties declared before witnesses, should remain, but that there should be introduced the following safeguards:—(a) that notice of not less than three days be given of a marriage by declaration; (b) that the marriage should be declared

THE man who gave the women of the world artificial silk stockings is dead. He was Mr. Charles Frederick Cross, and he died last month at his home at Hove, Sussex, at the age of seventy-nine.

The late Lord Melchett once said: "If it had not been for two English chemists young women would not have had the wonderful stockings they wear to-day."

One of the two chemists was Mr. Cross; the other, Mr. E. Bevan, died in 1922. Mr. Cross and his colleague invented the cellulose process for spinning artificial silk more than forty years ago.

before an official readily accessible, named in the statute; (c) that a registrar's schedule should be obtained, as in the case of a religious marriage at present.

LOWERED THE IDEAL

The present situation, concluded Mr. Auty, lowered the whole ideal of marriage, cheapened the relations of the sexes, was a menace to home life, and wronged the children.

They as ministers of the Church of Scotland were guardians of the moral life of the community, and it was their duty to stop this scandal.

They were not altering the fundamental marriage law of Scotland. They were only bringing in safeguards, and he submitted that they should come into line with other civilised countries.

The Rev. W. A. Knowles, Dalton, seconded and the Synod agreed to transmit the overture to the General Assembly.

Joke Ended
In DeathWOMAN STABS HER HUSBAND

How a playful demonstration of the antics of performing fleas led to the death of a young married man was told at Accrington, when a verdict of "accidental death" was returned at the inquest on George Dransfield (24), commercial traveller, of Aitken Street, Accrington.

It was stated that Dransfield and his wife visited a local fair ground and saw a performance of fleas in which two of them were supposed to be fighting a duel.

Mrs. Ethel Dransfield said that next evening she was preparing tea and took up a knife to cut bread. At that moment her husband mentioned the fleas' performance. Laughing and joking she began to demonstrate the thrusts. She made a slight thrust towards her husband and felt the knife pierce his flesh. He bled profusely and did not speak.

They had had four years of happy married life, she said.

James Booth said that Mrs. Dransfield came into his room assisting her husband. When he asked what had happened, she replied, "I have done it, not him." He noticed a small wound on Dransfield's chest and began to bathe it.

Mrs. Dransfield was hugging her husband and imploring him to speak to her.

Dr. Anderson said that it was a thousand to one chance on the knife getting between the ribs. With such an instrument, the force required to inflict the wound would not be very great.

The Coroner (Mr. F. Rowland) said it seemed to him that the tragedy was the result of larking, not an unknown thing among young couples.

The jury must realise that young people did silly things and must not put too extreme a test when asking themselves whether they could have avoided it by reasonable care.

RIDDLE OF A WILLBEERSELLER'S GIFT
TO CHARITY

Mr. William Hurst, a retired beer-seller living at Little Hulton, near Bolton, Lancashire, left what was described to Mr. Justice Farwell, in the Chancery Division by counsel, as the "surprisingly large" fortune of £37,000.

He bequeathed the residue of that fortune (which is estimated to be a considerable amount) to the "King Edward VII. Royal Hospital, London," and it was that description that brought 15 counsel, including five K.C.s, to the Court to argue about it.

The matter arose on a summons issued by Mr. Hurst's executor, who wished to know what hospital, if any, answered the description.

Four of the K.C.s claimed the residue for one or other of the following institutions: King Edward's Hospital Fund for London; King Edward VII. Hospital for Officers, Grosvenor-gardens, S.W.; King Edward Memorial Hospital, Ealing; and King Edward VII. Hospital, Windsor.

The fifth counsel appeared for Mr. Hurst's next-of-kin.

After hearing all the counsel, Mr. Justice Farwell came to the conclusion that none of the four institutions answered the description in the will, and he made an order, by consent, that a scheme should be prepared to deal with the residue, it being agreed that there was a general charitable intent in the will.

THE DECCA PORTOLA

A complete all electric radio-gram in the compass of an ordinary acoustic portable. Something that—until the introduction of this truly remarkable little instrument was considered out of the question. But the seemingly impossible has been accomplished and DECCA—the inventors of the first acoustic portable—now introduce the world's first portable radio-gram.

A marvel of ingenuity, the 'Portola' is distinguished not merely for its portability and novelty, but it really is a highly efficient radio-gram, giving superlative results on radio or records and challenging favourable comparison with most multi-valve receivers.

LIQUIDATION OF DEBTS
ARRANGED

Shanghai, May 12. Satisfactory arrangements have been reached following a conference between Mr. Tsang Chung-ming, vice-Minister of Railways, and the leading bankers,

JUBILEE SOUVENIRS

H. E. THE GOVERNOR GIVES TABLETS TO GUILDS

Expressing the official appreciation of the Chinese processions in the Silver Jubilee celebration, His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, will give, four wooden tablets to each of the Fishmongers' Guild, the Butchers' Guild and the Poultry Dealers' Guild.

The three guilds were responsible for the presentation of the various dragons and numerous other features to the processions. The fourth tablet will be given to the Li Woo Lok Tong troupe the manipulators of the multi-coloured dragon. This troupe is considered to be the best among the bands of dragon bearers.

Similar in size but different in their wording, each of these wooden tablets is beautifully set up with Chinese characters of gold against a striking background of dark blue with suitable inscriptions of appreciation by His Excellency the Governor. On each tablet is set also the name of the distinguished donor and the respective recipients.

Each of the tablets measures about nine feet by three feet. They have been sent to the Office of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. It is understood that they may be presented to the various guilds by the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith on behalf of His Excellency the Governor.

Organisers of the Chinese processions have given a few small symbolic figures made of paper, taken from the tableaux in the Chinese procession, to Lady Peel, as souvenirs of the auspicious occasion.

Dragon Display

Thousands of spectators were thrilled at the South China Athletic Association ground, Caroline Hill, on Saturday night when the Gauze Dragon and Silver Dragon, which had taken part in the extensive Jubilee celebrations earlier in the week, participated in a spectacular display which terminated with a striking combat between the two dragons.

It was the last opportunity of seeing these unique creations; and in spite of the parades through the Colony streets on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday last week, the crowds were excited as ever at the sight of the display.

It is understood that, together with Friday night's takings, the total realised was $5,000 odd. All this, after defraying incidental expenses, will be donated to the Home for the Aged Poor at Kowloon City.

Crowds thronged the stands, and the hillside overlooking the Caroline Hill football field was also packed with Chinese eager to gain a view of the dragons in action.

The performance of the Gauze Dragon provided splendid entertainment with its chase for a pearl in the form of a red lantern.

At the conclusion of the acts, in order to give the dragon a "breather," clowns, lion and tiger heads and men dressed as women paraded the ground to the great amusement of the spectators.

In the grand finale the silver and gauze dragons met in combat. It was a spectacular display as each dragon attempted to gain possession of the pearl. The dragons were brilliantly lit from within and their contortions were most convincing.

Kowloon Procession

Kowloon was treated to a dragon procession yesterday, the golden serpent of the Poultry Dealers' Guild covering the main streets of the Peninsula at mid-day in its last public appearance.

The dragon was preceded by a number of banners and a band and started off at 11 a.m. from Canton Road on the following route: Peking Road, Nathan Road, Jordan Road, Castle Street, Reclamation Street, Lai-chikok Road, Keelung Street and Shamshuiipo, where the procession disbanded.

In the evening the same guild paraded their other dragon, a multi-coloured creature of gorgeous aspect, in Hongkong from West Point along Des Voeux Road West, Queen's Road West and Central, Central Market, Des Voeux Road Central, Bonham Strand East and West, Connaught Road Central, Murray Street, Arsenal Street, Johnstone Road, Hennessey Road, Lockhart Road, and back to central district, where the procession broke up.

HUNTING FOR WAR DEAD

BATTLEFIELD SEARCH PARTIES

Every week bodies of British soldiers are found in the old battlefields of France and Flanders, and 25 per cent. of them are identified from personal effects. They are buried in a few cemeteries kept open for the purpose.

Those facts are given in the 15th annual report of the War Graves Commission.

"There is no sign of a decrease

"Empire Protection," veteran prize-winning English bull, makes this amusing study as he stands defiantly above two kittens, at a show in London.

Residents of the Camden Town section of London rubbed their eyes when they came upon a Victoria crossing a few mornings ago and saw the curb neatly raised off by stanchions and chains. This is the latest traffic innovation of Mr. Horvath, whose job it is to reduce the pedestrian death rate. The idea of these rails is to keep the pedestrians from leaving the sidewalk in the centre of the block, making them cross at the crossings only.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart King Oliver, leaving Holy Trinity Cathedral, Shanghai, after their wedding. Both bride and groom are well-known here and in Shanghai, and former being Miss Joan Ursula Wainman Strike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Strike, of Shanghai. The wedding was of a quiet nature and attended by members of the family and a few intimate friends.

In the number of bodies found on the battlefields," writes Sir Fabian Ware, Permanent Vice-Chairman of the Commission, in his introduction. "A recent analysis reveals the fact that 1,246 were found in 1934, an increase of 116 compared with 1933.

"Some of these bodies are found by farmers when cultivating the land, some by official search parties organised by the French for the purpose of discovering French and German bodies, while others are found by the unemployed who collect scrap metal from the battlefields.

"The discovery of a British grave is immediately reported to the Commission, and steps are taken for the reverent removal of the body to one of the War cemeteries."

WHARF FIGHT

TWO COOLIES SENT TO HOSPITAL

Two parties of coolies were involved in a fight at Holt's Wharf shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The timely arrival of the police, however, prevented the affray from developing serious proportions.

It is stated that the fight resulted from a quarrel over some work between two coolies. Other coolies joined in and the affair became a free-for-all, bamboo poles being freely used.

A party of police was soon on the scene, but the majority of the coolies fled and evaded arrest. Six of the men were arrested, two of whom were sent to hospital for treatment.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., is instructed by Mr. F. X. D'Almada, solicitor for Arcull Brothers, petitioning creditors, and Mr. D. McNeill is instructed by Mr. F. H. Losaby of Russ & Co., for the Tung Lok, Tung Fook, Tung Woo and Tung Chan firms who contest the allegation of petitioning creditors that they are partners of the Tung Tak.

This morning, Kam Tsang-tung, managing partner of the Tung Fook firm was cross-examined by Mr. Jenkin, who said he would suggest that although the Tung Fook carried on a business, they paid the profits to the Tung Tak firm.

Witness had admitted in examination that the Tung Tak was founded by a former fook of Tung Fook named Yeung Sik-kwong, and the same was true of the Tung Lok, but not of the other firms.

Questioned by Mr. Jenkin, witness said the pile of books produced in Court were the books of his firm and that when the bailiff called at the shop he did not take the books although they were there under the counter and in the cockpit. Some were on the shelves in the shop. A day after the bailiff's visit, the books were taken to Messrs. Russ & Co's.

Mr. Jenkin referred to a paying book recording sums of money paid by Tung Fook to Tung Tak for goods received. Witness agreed that the writing was done by himself and that the receipt stamps and chops were affixed by Yeung Sik-kwong for the Tung Tak.

CHOP MARKS

With the aid of a magnifying glass, Counsel demonstrated to the Court that the marks of chops made on receipt stamps had left an impression on receipt stamps for payments made several months later according to the date they bore. This could only mean that the stamps had been put on at the same time and that the wet chop had left its impression when the page had been turned over.

Witness asserted that the first impression shown him was caused by a dirty finger mark, but, on being shown other clear impressions which Mr. Jenkin said appeared on every page of the book, he suggested that it was caused by the stamps being so damp that they absorbed the mark of the chop made months earlier.

Counsel then pointed out that the impression not only covered the stamp but part of the page as well.

Mr. Jenkin: The fact that stamped documents of this nature passed between you and Tung Tak were not partners?

Witness was understood to say he did not know that stamped receipts were unnecessary between partners.

Counsel suggested that it might be a coincidence that the Tung Tak receipt chop was missing, and witness replied that he knew nothing of this chop.

A DENIAL

Mr. Jenkin: I put it to you that the Tung Woo, Tung Chan and Tung Fook firms found that you were getting into trouble with foreign leather suppliers, wholesalers, and could not get leather from them on credit and therefore decided to form the Tung Tak firm?

Witness: It is not true. This firm was started by your uncle's son-in-law who was a fook in your firm and lived with his family on your premises?

Yes. You put Tung Tak into funds with which to carry on the business?—No. And in the first year of Tung Tak's existence, Tung Fook advanced them no less than $77,000?—Nothing was loaned by Tung Fook. If Kam Mei, his father-in-law, advanced that money, I don't know anything about it. Where is Kam Mei?—In the country.

"That is the best place for him," added Counsel.

Mr. Jenkin then produced the cash book of the Tung Tak showing that loans were advanced by Tung Fook for over $77,000, and asked witness to comment on them. Witness said the Tung Fook had no such record and it was possible that this was the manner in which Tung Tak recorded payments for goods received or the loans from Yeung Sik-kwong's father-in-law.

PHONE "TIP-OFF"

Witness further denied that he had a telephone "tip-off" of the impending visit of the bailiff and made away with the firm's books. He asserted that it was by coincidence that the other "Tung" firms met at Russ & Co's offices the same day to put their affairs in the solicitor's hands. He did not know that Tung Tak had called a meeting of their creditors.

Mr. McNeill: You understand the allegation of Mr. Jenkin that you fraudulently made up this book for the purposes of this case?

Witness denied the allegation. Evidence was next given by Chan Tak-wong, managing partner of the Tung Woo firm, who said the business was started in 1929 with two brothers Chau Sau-hoi and Chau Kin-sang with $1,000 capital each. They had no interest in Tung Tak except as partners and owed them no money. The hearing is proceeding.

HOSPITAL REPORTS

TUNG WAH DIRECTORS MEET AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

There was a big gathering of the permanent advisers of the Tung Wah Hospital and its associated hospitals at Government House last Friday, when they presented the annual report of the leading Chinese Hospital's activities for the past twelve months to His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel.

Among the permanent advisers present were the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotevall, the Hon. Mr. S. W. Tso, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Sir Robert Ho Tung and Messrs. Li Yau-tsun, Wong Kwong-kin, M. K. Lo, Fu Yick-pang, Li Po-kwal and Tang Shiu-kin.

The 1934 Directors were present with their Chairman, Mr. Lau Ping-chai.

Mr. Lau Ping-chai represented the outgoing Directors and submitted his report of the work done during 1934, while Mr. Peter Sin spoke on behalf of the new Directors of 1935. Both reports referred to the administrative and financial conditions of the Hospitals.

After the speeches His Excellency suitably replied, thanking the departing Directors for their good work and welcoming the new Directors.

The Po Leung Kuk

Later in the morning the Directors of the Po Leung Kuk also met at Government House and Mr. Ng Yiu-wan the Chairman of the 1935 Directors, and Mr. Ng Wah (the Chairman of the 1934 Directors) both spoke on their work.

At the conclusion of their speeches His Excellency the Governor took occasion to express his appreciation of the excellent work done in 1934, also extending his welcome to the new Directors. At both meetings the Chinese Directors took the opportunity to wish Sir William Peel and Lady Peel bon voyage on the forthcoming retirement of His Excellency.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

In a story that fairly sparkles with high romance, Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery will shortly be seen at the Queen's Theatre as co-stars for only the second time in their respective careers. The story is "Vanessa: Her Love Story" from the brilliant pen of the eminent novelist, Hugh Walpole. It is definitely slated among the better photoplays of the new season. Miss Hayes has never given a more sterling performance than as the heroine, Vanessa, who, blindly in love with Montgomery, is persuaded to accept a more suitable marriage to Otto Kruger, she is not able to forget her first love and manages to spend a few happy hours with him after Kruger's insanely jealous has ordered her from his home. How she and Montgomery work out the tangled skein of their lives provides absorbing entertainment. Kruger as the madman gives an exceptional performance, ably assisted by others of the distinguished cast. Among these should be mentioned Henry Stephenson, May Robson, Donald Crisp, Mary Gordon, Jessie Ralph, Aileen Pringle and George K. Arthur as well as Lewis Stone. "Vanessa: Her Love Story" is recommended without qualifications as an excellent hour of entertainment. It is the latest production of David O. Selznick, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer who gave the screen "David Copperfield," "Little Women," "Dinner at Eight" and "Viva Villa," and other hits, and was directed by William K. Howard of "Cat and the Fiddle" fame.

"Sweet Adeline"

An audience which was left whistling with feet tapping and lips smiling, paid tribute to what is undoubtedly the greatest of all Warner Bros. musical spectacles, "Sweet Adeline," which opened for the first time locally yesterday. There is no mystery as to how Warner Bros., already famous for their remarkable musicals, surpassed their previous efforts. They took a clever operetta with the reputation of a 55-week run on Broadway and gave it the kind of production treatment possible only to the Warner Bros. organization, provided as its star the charming Irene Dunne, gave her a cast which included four of the funniest comedians in films, and added to it the directing genius of Mervyn LeRoy and Bobby Connolly, master of dance spectacles. The result was an evening of perfect entertainment. The screen version retains the best of the original to which has been added much that is new and better, including two songs written particularly for this production, by Jerome Kern who, with Oscar Hammerstein II, wrote the operetta. Donald Woods is leading man in the role of the song writer in love with Miss Dunne. Louis Calhern is the villain, and a fine one. He is a remarkable actor. Winifred Shaw and Dorothy Dare sing and act beautifully.

"Red Morning"

Probably no woman in Hollywood has ever played a leading role throughout an entire picture with such an inexpensive wardrobe as Steffi Duna wears in "Red Morning," which will be shown locally at the King's Theatre on Wednesday. A generous estimate of the cost of Miss Duna's attire in this South Sea dramatic thriller is $10. In her role as a sea captain's daughter, she dresses mostly in faded dungarees. Her dressiest outfit is a white linen skirt and shirt-waist. Her most interesting garb is the sarong, the native dress of Papuan belles. Miss Duna is featured in "Red Morning" with Regis Toomey, depicting an exciting romance against a background of action. The native sequences were taken in British New Guinea, but the story was fashioned in Hollywood studios on the RKO-Radio lot under Wallace Fox's direction.

"Crooner"

Brains count for far more than beauty in a girl's struggle for success in motion pictures, according to Ann Dvorak, according to Hollywood the title of the "Flood of 1932," who takes the leading role in First National's "Crooner," a comedy drama which is now being featured at the Star Theatre. In "Crooner," Miss Dvorak plays the role of the sweetheart of a boy who becomes famous overnight as a crooner, and then gets so up-stage he "high hats" her. The crooner is played by David Manners, whose unrivaled vanity elicits many laughs at his expense. Other members of the cast include Ken Murray, Claire Dodd, Guy Kibbee, Allen Vincent, Edward Nugent, Sheila Terry, William Janney, Betty Gillette, J. Carroll Nash, William Ricciardi and William Halligan. The story is a glamorous portrayal of night club life with scintillating satire from the pen of Hilar Jumer. It was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

"Midnight Alibi"

"Midnight Alibi," the First National picture based on the story by Damon Runyon, author of "Lady for a Day," will be the feature attraction at the Alhambra Theatre on Wednesday. The story is one of the most unique romances that the famous writer has yet conceived; the principal characters being an elderly and aristocratic spinster and a New York racketeer. Helen Lowell, the noted Broadway star, has the former role, and is said to give an outstanding characterization, while Richard Barthelmess has the stellar role of the gangster. Barthelmess has a double role, also playing the part of the spinster's sweetheart of forty-five years before the real story actually starts. Ann Dvorak plays the part of his present day sweetheart while Helen Chandler has the role of Miss Lowell as a young girl. Others in the cast include Henry O'Neill, Robert Barrat, Robert McWade, Farnell Pratt, Harry Tyler and Paul Hurst.

"Marie Galante"

Ketti Gallian plays the title role in "Marie Galante," the vivid story of a French girl completely overcome by homesickness for her native land, which is now at the King's Theatre. Miss Gallian, "discovered" in London last year by Winfield Sheeman while playing the only feminine role in a current stage hit there, "The Ace" was the executive's ideal for the role of Marie Galante. He signed her to a contract, despite the fact that she spoke hardly half a dozen words of English. He also brought "The Ace" for use as her second screen vehicle. Miss Gallian learned English in three months. Margaret Knapp, who taught Anna Sten to speak English, was engaged as Miss Gallian's tutor, and the two girls took an apartment together. Between English lessons, Miss Gallian took exercise and massage treatments to remodel her figure, acclaimed as perfect from the Continental viewpoint to conform to American screen demands.

A whist drive will be held in the Reading Room at Kowloon Docks on Tuesday, May 14, at 9 p.m. and fortnightly thereafter.

ONE CAUSE OF WARS

A sensible approach to the problem of world peace was recently reflected in a warning by Mr. Cordell Hull, U.S. Secretary of State, that nations must unite in an economic programme to restore economic stability before the threat of war can be averted. Few people stop to remember that at the back of almost every war scare there is some profound maladjustment which exerts an unendurable pressure on a people or a group of peoples. Disarmament and security conferences almost uniformly ignore that fact, and for that reason get nowhere. Mr. Hull's notion is that, if the tangled economic situation can be tackled first, the attempt to build an enduring peace will be a great deal simpler. "The necessity was never more apparent," he says, "for the various countries of the world to give immediate attention to the matter of adopting a sound and comprehensive economic programme, both domestic and international, and carrying it forward, to the end that the normal processes of domestic and international finance and commerce may be restored and tens of millions of unemployed wage earners may be re-employed. This would afford a solid foundation on which to rebuild stable peace and political structures." Too often do people seem to take it for granted that this or that nation adopts a war-like course out of pure human cussedness. Many critics have been very vocal in condemning Japan's course in Manchuria and China, for instance, and have blamed it largely on the militarism of an army and navy clique which has managed to take control of the Government. What is liable to be forgotten is the simple fact that Japan has faced the prospect of a trade depression and a wave of unemployment far more severe than the one through which many nations have been passing. The Japanese people became convinced that only by gaining access to fresh territories that would provide expanding markets, and new sources of raw material could they avert economic disaster. That is what explains Japan's policy in recent years, and something similar is behind almost every resurgence of the martial spirit. At the back of the armies and the navies there are economic inequalities that drive nations to the verge of desperation. This being true, there is a good deal of sense in Mr. Cordell Hull's suggestion. If the nations of the world devoted to the job of regaining international economic stability one-half of the effort they devote to preparations to settle the instability by force of arms, they ought to be able to go a long way toward working out an equitable solution. The effort would at least seem to be well worth making.

NOTES OF THE DAY

PRESIDENT'S POWER

President Roosevelt is about the veto the Patman Bill, which has been passed by the House of Representatives and the Senate, which necessitates the payment of some $2,000,000,000 to veterans of the Great War and which, in spite of the argument of its proponents, would result in a form of inflation. Not because the United States has not sufficient gold backing for an additional billion or so of paper money, but because it would entail additional borrowing on the part of the Government, President Roosevelt cannot see his way clear to approving it. Here is an instance of rule by a minority, in which the President is the leader, and upon which is based the charge that America is governed by a "dictatorship." President Roosevelt, however, is doing nothing unconstitutional in vetoing the Patman Bill. (Congress can always override the veto by voting with a two-thirds majority against it, though in this instance there is little likelihood of such a majority being found). He is fulfilling his function; in this instance, acting as a brake upon an over-zealous movement for reform, engineered by the strategist, Senator Patman, and backed by popular opinion throughout the length and breadth of the Union. The fact that the President quarrels with Congress does not mean that the Government will fail, or that he has lost the country's confidence, as under the British Constitution. He will veto the Patman Bill, and the affairs of the nation will continue upon their way unhindered, although, without doubt, there will be stormy sessions in both Houses and recriminations against the "people's President."

STANDS ALONE

President Roosevelt's "Cabinet" does not share his responsibility in this matter of the veto. He acts alone. For there is no such thing as a "Cabinet," as Great Britain knows it, in Washington. There is a "Council of the President," but that is quite a different thing. This is composed of the chiefs of the administrative departments, the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull; the Attorney-General, Mr. Homer Cummings; the Secretary of the Navy, of Agriculture, Labour, and so on. Like the British Cabinet, the "Council" is not formally recognised by law, but it is accepted as a permanent feature of Government. It is really a group of individuals dependent on and answerable to the President, but with no joint policy, no collective responsibility. The final decision on all questions rests with the President, who is solely and personally responsible. Moreover, since the members of the "Cabinet" are excluded from Congress, and are entirely independent of that body, they have little to do with the devising of parliamentary tactics, or of preparing or discussing bills. No President Roosevelt, alone, of all the executives at Washington, has upstaged Senator Patman's appeal, and it will be against him that the wrath of the majority will be directed when the Bonus Bill, which has seared through Congress, has had its wings clipped and flutters ineffectually into some dark corner. Mr. Roosevelt has our sympathy, if not our approval. He is prepared to make sacrifices when he is convinced that he acts for the good of the nation. Such a man is a patriot, even though he occasionally blunders.

FASHION NOTE

Stylists and designers unhesitatingly decree what the well-dressed individual should wear in springtime. Cut, colour, and material of garments are largely determined by accepted arbiters. But no one ventures to issue orders as to how faces should be arrayed. Isn't there a call for new and better styles to greet the season when "a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove," and when "crocus fires are kindling one by one"? One is saddened by the preponderance of hard lines, of mirthless, worried expressions that meet us in the crowded street, says an American contemporary. What is a proper vernal face, anyway? Should the corners of the mouth turn up, or down? Are dimples to be worn? May one display a physiognomy that is "one vast, substantial smile," like Mrs. Fozzibwa's? Is there any edict against chuckling right out loud? How refreshing, after the fatigue of comic problems, to see and hear two substantial citizens standing on the street corner, shaking with laughter! There are times when, as Stevenson suggested, a happy person is a better find than a five-pound note. "A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market." Then, why not a cheerful countenance beneath the new hat?

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

Queen Mary at her desk in 1923.

History will have difficulty deciding which was the greater queen, Victoria or Mary.

Probably because she ruled alone, and because of her active interest in the affairs of the Empire, Victoria will be so honoured.

But Queen Mary has fulfilled a task perhaps far more difficult than the task of her predecessor. The period in which she has reigned, and is still to reign, has been the most trying in all Britain's history.

Queen Mary is not a great stateswoman; she is a homemaker. When she became Queen it is recorded that she renovated all the royal houses from attic to cellar. She found a greatly over-stuffed household; she found furniture and conveniences hopelessly inadequate; little thought had been given, for instance, to lighting the palaces with electricity.

The Queen changed all this; an authority on interior decorating, she set about re-decorating almost every room, even, on occasion, doing the actual work herself.

Queen Alexandra once said of Queen Mary: "Mary is a perfect mother and absolutely devoted to her children." That is typical of the Queen. She personally attended to the welfare of each one of her five sons and one daughter; she devoted at least one full day a week to romping with them and playing with them; strict, she nevertheless understood that her children were just like any other mother's—full of mischief and childish desires. That she raised and trained her family with tender care is proved by the four fine sons and daughter who are among the most popular persons in the world to-day.

Our picture shows the Queen at her writing desk from a picture taken in 1923. Notice that in front of her are pictures of her family.

Monday: The death of Queen Alexandra.

BOARDING HOUSE SUICIDE

MURDER THEORY DISPROVED

What appeared to have been a case of suspected murder—turned out to be apparent suicide when police detectives visited the second floor of the Man Kwok Boarding House, 158 Connaught Road Central, this morning.

The visit was made as the result of a report made by a hotel employee to the Central Police Station that the door of Room 89 had been locked since Friday.

Police gained admission to the room by breaking the glass partition. They found the body of a man, Ngo Hung-chen, aged 22, lying dead on the bed, the cause of death being believed to be poisoning. The man is thought to have been dead since Friday, when he booked the room.

The deceased, who was a native of Foochow, left two letters addressed to the manager of the boarding house in which he is stated to have disclosed his intention of committing suicide, but without stating any reason.

INDIANS IN DOCK

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON GUARD

Found unconscious in Lockhart Road on Saturday afternoon, Ahmad Gull, a Police Guard, regained consciousness at the Wan Chai Police Station and made a statement as a result of which Mohamed Din, 30, licensed car driver, and Nawab Din, 24, also a Police Guard, were arrested and charged with assault.

The two men appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy this morning and were remanded for 48 hours in police custody.

Det-Sgt. Fitches, for the prosecution, said it was alleged the complainant was struck with sticks and it was not known whether his skull was fractured. The result of an X-ray examination was awaited.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for the defence.

"I wish she would patch up her quarrel with young Ted what's-his-name. I miss his letters."

SEEK TO EXTEND PEACE PACT

FRANCE AND RUSSIA INVITE ASSISTANCE

POLISH APPREHENSION MUCH REDUCED

Moscow, May 12.

France and Soviet Russia stand, their rifles at their feet, and with hands outstretched, inviting all other interested powers to join their efforts in the cause of peace, declares Izvestia, semi-official new organ, on the eve of M. Pierre Laval's visit to the Soviet's capital.

The visit of the French Foreign Minister has a special significance, Izvestia declares, because the Franco-Soviet treaty of mutual assistance has opened a new phase in the joint struggle of France and Russia for the peace of the world.

Izvestia emphasises that the purpose of the Franco-Soviet Treaty is to make sure of the defensive capabilities of the two nations.

France and the Soviet are interested in the preservation of existing international treaties because a treaty creates conditions for attracting to the cause of defence the maximum number of states having no interest in releasing the forces of war, the journal adds.

Neither country shuts the door against the inclusion in the organisation for peace of any power, so long as that power repudiates aggression, says Izvestia.—Reuter.

LAVAL'S DIPLOMACY

Warsaw, May 12.
On the conclusion of the Franco-Polish talks, M. Pierre Laval, the French Foreign Minister, left here today for his three days' visit to Moscow.

Both M. Laval and Col. Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, spoke optimistically concerning their week-end conversations.

It is now gathered that M. Laval made good head-way in persuading Poland that she will not suffer because of the newly-signed Franco-Soviet Pact which merely seeks to protect the signature of other powers providing they are prepared to renounce aggressive warfare. —Reuter Special.

Pleading guilty before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy this morning to stealing a purse from an electrician at the Grand Theatre, Liu Piu, 34, coolie, was sent to prison for three months. The defendant had a previous conviction for theft seven years ago.

Sentence of one month's hard labour was passed upon Fan Fuk, aged 20, unemployed, by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when he was convicted on a charge of receiving a stolen gramophone. Defendant alleged that the gramophone was given to him to sell by a man named Wong Kau, who lived at Shek Kip-mei Village.

The death occurred on Friday, in Jersey, Channel Islands, of Commander P. H. Rolfe, R.N.R., who was for many years with the Indo-China Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., mainly on the Hongkong-Manila run and later as Marine Superintendent. He retired in 1911. He was the brother of Trinity House, a Member of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners and a Freeman of the City of London. A son, Mr. C. H. Rolfe, resides in Hongkong.

In order not to clash with the ceremony of presenting farewell addresses to H.E. the Governor, at the University, the hour at which Madame Lottie Gordon's concert will be held in the Jacobean Room of the Hongkong Hotel to-morrow has been changed from 8.30 to 6.30 p.m. The concert is in aid of the Blind Home and the Empire Link Music Club, and instead of an admission charge being made, boxes will be available at the door, on the conclusion of the concert, for contributions.

Tang Ching, aged 29, unemployed, was formally remanded for seven days by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when he appeared on a charge of stealing four cases and a basket of flower bulbs from Mui Chun-wan, the master of the Yuen Hing gardens, while in his employ. Detective-Sub-Inspector Poyntz prosecuted. It was alleged that at the time of the theft defendant was a gardener employed by complainant. The bulbs were removed to a house in Shanghai Street, and subsequently recovered at Aberdeen. Mr. K. W. Forrow, of the Forestry Department, stated that the bulbs were gladioli opisthiiflorus. They were imported from America and were worth $400. Defendant alleged that he purchased the bulbs for the sum of $135.

Charged with the possession of a number of pin lottery tickets, Li Woon-ye, aged 18, spinner, was brought before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning. Sergeant Smith stated that the tickets were found concealed in a handkerchief. Defendant was fined $1.

Wong Shek-ku, aged 20, unemployed, was charged with the theft of forty cents from Ma Yau, a farmer, in Connaught Road Central, when he appeared before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning. It was stated that complainant felt a tug on his left jacket pocket, and, turning round, saw the defendant run away. He gave chase, and a detective arrested defendant at a ten-shop. Defendant pleaded that he came from the country, and wanted the money for a bus to return home. He was sent to prison for four months.

Chan Tim, aged 26, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning, with the theft of $1 in Chinese money and thirteen cents (Hongkong money) from Lo Pang, aged 58, unemployed, at the Hollywood Road. It was stated that a Chinese constable, in plain clothes saw defendant put his hand into complainant's pocket and extract the money. He arrested defendant and asked complainant if he lost anything, and was informed that some money was missing. Sentence of four months' hard labour was passed.

The theft of a roll of cloth, valued at $10, from 142, Queen's Road Central, was the charge against Tsung Chun, aged 21, unemployed, when he appeared before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning. Sub-Inspector O'Connor, prosecuting, stated that the defendant was seen in a ricksha with the cloth in his possession. He was questioned and admitted stealing the property. The cloth was taken back to the shop where it was identified. Defendant was fined $50, or one month's hard labour.

Liu Yin, aged 34, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with stealing a lamp-bed from 155, Wing Lok Street. Complainant was Che Yui, aged 20, a shop fook. Sub-Inspector O'Connor said the lamp-bed was hung under the verandah outside the shop. Complainant saw defendant in the act of stealing it. When he was seen, defendant ran away with the bed, which he subsequently threw away. A district watchman saw the chase and arrested the defendant. The bed was valued at $250. Defendant was fined $10, with the alternative of fourteen days' imprisonment.

American Government Bonds Fall

ACTIVITY IN STOCK MARKET

COMMODITIES OUTPACED

(Special to "Telegraph")

New York, May 11.
United States Government Bonds were heavily sold to-day, with exchange losses of from 3/32 to 5/16. A late recovery, however, brought something of a return on prices.

Domestic Corporation issues were irregularly active.

Railroad bonds also sold off but recovered later while utility bonds were lower.

European bonds were steady and firm.

On the New York Stock Exchange trading continued active despite profit-taking in the most active session of the year.

A ray of optimism spread over the financial community throughout the past week due to the advance in stock prices and the increase in business volume.

In today's session bonds were irregular. Oil shares advanced and motor issues were better.

Utilities reached the year's new high level.

Steel issues were steady although affected by the automobile strike and a decline in the shipments of finished products.

Chemical issues were higher. Many traders express disappointment at the failure of commodities to keep pace with the stock market. —United Press.

That he stole because of poverty was the excuse given by Tang Shek-yan, aged 18, shop assistant, when he appeared before Mr. Grantham at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with the theft of three singlets at the Sincere company's branch shop, 172, Queen's Road Central. The prosecution stated that while the manager of the shop was at home, defendant stole the goods and attempted to pawn them. The management wished to press the charge as they were losing a lot of goods. The defendant received $6 a month wages and also his food. A fine of $25, or three weeks' imprisonment, was imposed.

EAST END WELCOMES SOVEREIGN

VAST CROWDS STOP ROYAL CAR

THRILL FOR PRINCESS

(Special to "Telegraph")

(The Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages. Ordinance, 1891. Received, May 12, 10 a.m.)

London, May 12.
More extraordinary scenes of enthusiasm were witnessed when Their Majesties the King and Queen, accompanied by Princess Elizabeth, made a surprise drive through the streets of the East End of London to see Jubilee decorations in that quarter.

So secret was the King's plan kept that the police were not informed of the arrangement and on several occasions the Royal car was stopped by traffic lights.

Their Majesties received a particularly enthusiastic reception in "Chinatown" and the dock districts where the crowds were so dense that the Royal car was brought almost to a standstill. Men, women and children jumped on the running-board, cheering wildly.

Jubilee Thanksgiving Services were held in Cathedrals and Churches throughout the country. Their Majesties attended Divine Service in the Chapel at Buckingham Palace. —Reuter Special.

feared, but more loved than any other of the nation's patriots.

NATION SHOCKED

The nation is shocked by the sudden death of its hero, says the United Press. At his death Madame Pilsudski and her two daughters, Wanda 16, and Jadwiga, 14, were with the Marshal.

Immediately his passing was made known, the Cabinet met in extraordinary session to plan for the funeral and to consider what steps to take in a possible political crisis.

The Dictator's death unquestionably will precipitate domestic and political upsets and consequently the official announcement of the tragedy is being kept secret for the time being.

SUCCESSOR NAMED

Immediately after the death of the Marshal, says Reuter, which was due to haemorrhage caused by cancer of the stomach and liver, and occurred at his home in Belvedere Palace the Cabinet met and announced that General Rydzmiski, one of Pilsudski's closest collaborators, would succeed him as Inspector-General of the Army.

There is no reason to anticipate any instability in the country because of the death of the Dictator, although for many years past no important decision was ever taken without his being consulted.

His nominee and long-standing friend, M. Moscicki, is President of Poland and the new Constitution has just been established, placing far-reaching powers in the President's hands. This constitution was devised to perpetuate the power of the Government bloc, created by Pilsudski, a non-partisan organisation comprising all classes.

Externally, too, Poland's position will probably be more secure than ever in view of the ten-year pact with Germany and the non-aggression pact with Russia, and due to the Franco-Polish alliance which still holds good.

BERLIN SHOCKED

Berlin, May 12.
Marshal Pilsudski's death has greatly shocked political circles, but it is not believed that it will affect in any way the Polish-German relations.

It is felt that the Ten Year Pact depends upon the nature of things rather than upon an individual statesman, no matter what his strength. —Reuter.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT KOTEWALL CUP CONTEST

INGLORIOUS END TO SEASON

FEW PEOPLE INTERESTED

HEAT AFFECTS ATTENDANCE

(By "Sagax")

UNDER a sweltering heat, relieved only by the gradual setting of the sun, the Hongkong football season was brought to a close yesterday afternoon when the Army won the Kotewall Charity Cup by beating the Royal Navy by five goals to two.

ON the previous day, the league season was terminated with Champions v. Rest matches on the Causeway Bay ground, when both the Senior and Junior winners of the league were successful against representative sides.

WHEN the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Hongkong Football Association, walked into the empty enclosure at Causeway Bay yesterday afternoon and beheld his handsome trophy standing majestically on a table in front of the covered stand, he must have felt greatly disappointed to think that such a valuable cup presented by him should have attracted such a small crowd of spectators.

EVEN to describe the attendance as a "small crowd" is to exaggerate the number of people present for it was an extremely poor attendance and one that was worthy only of a second division league match.

A sprinkling of white jackets, only just made itself discernible in the sparsely seated stands but where was the Army? Was it out on manoeuvres or was it just a case of "couldn't be bothered"?

THE Council of the Hongkong Football Association must have felt somewhat ashamed of its organising abilities when a match in which the best talent in the Army and the Royal Navy can only draw a crowd estimated at approximately 400.

LITTLE doubt can remain that the heat has had a lot to do with the small attendances at the recent charity matches and it was a pity that they had been left so late in the season. There is, of course, too much football crammed into six months in Hongkong but that is another question and one which might well be taken up by the organisers next season.

THE absence of Chinese football fans was due to two reasons:—(1) the absence of the Chinese team from the Causeway Bay match and (2) the presence of the Chinese team in a match at Caroline Hill where a side of Chinese from Swatow were being entertained.

OVERTURES, it is understood, were made to the South China Athletic Association to stage their match against Swatow at Causeway Bay as a preliminary to the Kotewall Cup Competition contest but the Chinese were reluctant to transfer the fixture.

SOUTH China fielded a second team against Swatow but the visitors gave a pleasing display and only lost by the odd goal in five. Those who watched the match saw the return to local football of Leung Yuk-long, a former Hongkong Interporter.

LEUNG first played for Hongkong against Shanghai in 1923 when he filled the left half position while in 1925 he was seen at right half.

HOME FOOTBALL

London, May 11.
A Jubilee soccer match between the Football League and a combined Welsh-Irish eleven resulted in a win for the former by 10-2. The Football League led 4-1 at half-time. The match was played at Goodison Park, Everton.—Reuter.

South China's League Champion team. Reading according to their field positions the players are:—Wong Wing; Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau; Leung Wing-chiu and Lee Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing, Chan Tak-fai, Fung King-cheung, Tam Kong-pak and Lee Shek-yau. (Photo: Mee Cheung).

SOUTH CHINA WIN FROM REST

Robertson Excels In Half Back Line

(By "Cirrus")

South China "A":—Wong Wing; Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau; Leung Wing-chiu, Leung Wing-chiu and Lee Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing, Chan Tak-fai, Fung King-cheung, Tam Kong-pak and Li Shek-yau.
Rest of the League:—Rowlands; Mak Siu-hon and C. Pile; L. G. Robertson, McGuire, and Lai Kwok-chiu; T. Pile, G. Moss, A. G. Howe, Ridings and B. I. Bickford.

Minus the services of such stalwarts as A. V. Gosano, B. Gosano, A. S. Bliss, G. Rodger and A. Ward, the Rest of the League suffered defeat at the hands of the Champions, South China "A", by the odd goal in three on the Club ground on Saturday afternoon. In spite of the extreme heat there was a moderate crowd of spectators in the stands, and the hillside "grand stand". The game was keenly contested throughout, both goals undergoing very narrow escapes.

The deficiencies in the Rest team were made up by C. Pile, T. Pile, Lai Kwok-chiu, Rowlands and Ridings. Among those present to witness the game were the Hon. Sir Thomas Southern and Lady Southern, who distributed the Junior and Senior League trophies at the conclusion of the senior game.

RESERVES SHOW UP
Tommy Pile, on the right wing, Bunny Bickford, on the left wing, and Ridings, brought in at the last minute at inside-left, individually were good. Bickford sending in some splendid high passes which the Interport centre-forward, however, did not make the most of.

Of the Chinese team, Fung King-cheung led his forwards with good ball distribution, but his shooting when in front of goal was faulty. Of the other forwards, the most dangerous was Tso Kwai-shing while Chan Tak-fai called for a bit of watching with his nippy passing.

The half-back trio, Leung Wing-chiu, Leung Wing-chiu and Lee Kwok-wai, worked well even when under heavy pressure. At times he simply walked about with the ball at his feet and kicked with the utmost leisure.

Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau, once again were rock like in the last line of defence but Wong Wing appeared to be a little shaky. Time and again he was beaten by shots that struck the crossbar and rebounded into play.

The Champions led at the interval by a goal to nil and the final score was 2-1 in their favour. Chan Tak-fai netted both goals while Howe scored for the Rest from a good pass by Bickford.

MAK SIU-HON SHINES
The hero of the match was Mak Siu-hon, of the Chinese Athletic senior team, who played a magnificent and untiring game at right back for the Rest. He and Rowlands in goal bore the brunt of most of the defence work when the pressure of the Chinese forwards was at its height.

Robertson (Club), at right half, had a hard day's work marking Tam Kong-pak and Li Shek-yau and he came through with flying colours. The tricky work of Tam did not worry Robertson who proved himself play than equal to the head-work of his wiles. The Englishman gave Li very little scope for good work on the left wing and knowing this, the Chinese

(By "Sagax")

Army—Rowlands; Swain and Steele; Kengchan, Lawton and North; English, Higgins, Sandford, Ridley and Baldry.
Royal Navy—Crocker; Beard and Moss; Hughes, McGuire and Lowe; Baxter, Rose, Cannell, Slavin and Wearmouth.

The charity football match between the Army and the Royal Navy in the Kotewall Cup Competition at Causeway Bay yesterday afternoon brought the local soccer season to an official close for another six months. The Army who had already beaten South China, the only competitors in this newly organised competition, won from the Navy by five goals to two and at the conclusion of the match Ridley received the Cup from Mrs. Kotewall while members of the winning team were handed small cups as souvenirs.

Prior to the commencement of the match the teams were presented to Commodore C. G. Sedgwick.

The heavy rain of the early afternoon, brief though it was, was sufficient to make the ground slippery and prevent the players from giving of their best, with the result that the standard was not as high as it would otherwise have been.

Science, particularly during the early stages of the game, gave way to robust football and many promising movements were nullified by the conditions. The players had all their work cut out to keep a pass away from an opponent, the wet state of the ground making ball control a difficulty.

During the opening half the Army forwards were not the dangerous force that they subsequently proved to be and they were somewhat fortunate to have scored the only goal of the half. Combination was lacking and except for Baldry, who was responsible for the point, there was rarely a man who looked as though he was likely to prove a menace to the Navy defence.

Baldry was neglected by the Navy defenders throughout the match and he and Ridley, who improved after the interval to take the principal honours of the match, formed a practically unstoppable left flank once the ball was sent down the wing. Hughes, McGuire and Beard did not devote much attention to the Army left wing and many of the openings were made by Baldry and Ridley. Sandford improved as the game progressed and inspired his forwards with more confidence than during the opening stages when one or two absolutely open goals were missed.

Higgins and English were not as fleet footed as their left wing forwards but they put in some good work and constantly worried Moss, who, however, was equal to almost every move by the Army forwards. He played a sound game at back but received little support from the men in front of him.

CANNELL CONSISTENT

Swain and Steele worked hard in the Army defence and had their work lightened by a determined defence line, while Rowlands in goal, brought off many brilliant saves and, to a great extent, held the Navy forwards down to two goals.

GREAT SHOTS IN GOLF DESCRIBED

WIZARDRY OF VIC GHEZZI

ACCURACY IN PUTTING

ADVICE TO THE INEXPERIENCED

If it hadn't been for a driving rain that started on the fifteenth hole during the International Four-Ball matches at Miami, slowing up the greens, Vic Ghezzi and Willie Klein might have been victorious over the eventual winners, Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard.

Ghezzi was displaying the same wizardry that defeated Revolta just a few weeks previous in the Los Angeles Open.

It was Ghezzi's putting that consistently pulled him out of the hole in the Southern California tournament. At the end of the first nine holes of the final round, Ghezzi trailed Revolta by four strokes. Few gave much heed to the patiently plodding Ghezzi, who was hitting the ball far and putting with brilliant confidence.

Coming to the fifteenth, about

A NEW SERIES OF GOLF ARTICLES BY ART KRENZ

150 yards long, the lanky professional of Dean, N. J., had whittled away at Revolta's lead until he was within striking distance. With a No. 7 iron, he laid the ball on the green 18 feet from the cup. Displaying the putting touch that had gained second place in the California Open, he sank the putt for a birdie two to pick up another stroke on the fast fading Revolta, who, on the tenth hole, looked like a sure winner.

Ghezzi barely missed another birdie on the sixteenth. He birdied the seventeenth, and finished with a 71 to tie Revolta. In the playoff the next day, Revolta saw too much of Ghezzi's keen stroking, and succumbed by the score of 73-75.

"It was Clarence Clark who straightened out my putting," declares Ghezzi. "He advised me to break my wrist in the backswing, instead of taking the club back with an arm movement."

"In putting, I would advise the player to get the line, keep the head still, and not think of stroking the ball, but of hitting it. The putter should be worked like a pendulum. The face should be closed in the backswing, yet the blade should be kept at right angles to the hole at all times."

MIXED DOUBLES TENNIS

League Fixtures Start This Afternoon

(By "Sagax")

A start will be made this afternoon in the annual lawn tennis league competitions and as last year matches are to be played on week days only.

To-day the mixed doubles teams will take the courts and although only three clubs have entered for the Dunlop Shield there are again four teams, the Kowloon C. C. having signified their intention to field a second combination in the place of the Ladies' Recreation Club.

There have been changes in the "A" and "B" Division fixtures owing to the withdrawal from the Senior Division of the South China Athletic Association, and the admission of the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club into the newly formed fourth division.

I understand that the South China A. A. have found it impossible to raise the senior team they had intended owing to some of their members wishing to play for the Chinese Recreation Club.

In the Mixed Doubles League this afternoon the Kowloon C. C. "A" team entertain the U. S. R. C. while the Chinese I. C. receive a visit from the Kowloon C. C. "B" side.

PETERSEN FIGHT

MEETING NEUSEL IN JUNE

London, April 20.
Jack Petersen and Walter Neusel will have their return match (15 rounds) at Wembley in June.

The German flew from Paris to London on Thursday and signed the contract for a contest which should be one of the biggest fights of the year. Mr. C. B. Thomas will be the referee. He is a Welshman, but the German boxer wished him to officiate, and this was agreed to.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL MATCHES

RAIN INTERFERES WITH TIES

TOP NATIONAL TEAMS WIN

New York, May 12.
Baseball matches in the United States continue to be interfered with by rain and to-day three American League fixtures had to be postponed.

The National League programme was fulfilled, the four top teams all winning at the expense of the bottom clubs.

Results as cabled by Reuter follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	1	4	2
New York	3	9	1
Cincinnati	1	9	2

PAIRS FIXTURES FOR TO-DAY

(By "Sagax")

Seven more matches are down for decision in the first round of the Open Lawn Bowls Pairs Championship this afternoon. It is expected that the preliminary round matches will be all concluded by to-morrow. There are no matches of outstanding interest, with the game between W. E. Hollands and E. G. Post and M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh being the best of the bunch. This fixture will be played on the Hongkong Football Club Green.

The following is to-day's programme:

ENGLISH DAVIS CUP REPRESENTATIVE BRILLIANT

ARMY TEAM WIN

Cannell was a more consistent leader of his forward line than was Sandford but the Navy attack was weak and slow. Many opportunities in the first half only just went begging but in the second half they could not get going properly. True they scored two goals but these were not the results of any outstandingly clever movements on their part.

It was probably in the half back line that the Navy were worst served. Hughes was guilty of serious neglect of duty in not marking Baldry and allowing him too much scope. The task of stopping the Army left wing fell to Beard and the pressure was so great that he was unable to keep Baldry subdued.

Moss defended stoutly and with better assistance might have saved the Navy from a three goal defeat. Crocker was not always reliable and might have saved a few of the goals, particularly the first one which more or less slipped through his hands.

He was called upon to do more work than would have been necessary if the Navy defenders had been in better form.

DRAKE'S GOAL RECORD

DEBUT OF ROGERS WITH ARSENAL

Footwork, Crayston found time to bring the ball through to his forwards and Hill continually nipped in and upset the Borough attacking machinery. So superior were this trio that they made the game easy for the rest of the side.

Male and Haggood had a comparatively easy task in blotting out Williams and Warren, the Borough wingers. They performed the task so completely that Wilson had very little to do.

Playing behind beaten half-backs, the Borough rearward had an unhappy time making several grave errors of judgment. Hiller seldom got to the ball when he advanced, while Jennings and Stuart were invariably beaten for possession when the ball came over in the air. In nearly every raid Arsenal seemed likely to get goals.

Thanks mainly to the astute prompting of James, the Arsenal forwards had a field day. Drake, in bringing his total for the season to 41, surpassed the Arsenal record of 38, held by Jack Lambert, and led the line with judgment. He received able support from Bastin, who, the first time he tried a shot on the turn, had to receive attention to the knee which has given so much trouble.

On his first appearance Rogers, the boy from Wrexham, gave an impressive performance. At the moment he lacks pace, but he more than

VALLEY GOLF

Edward Beats Franks In Adamson Cup

D. S. Edward (4) beat J. W. Franks (13) by two and one in the final of the match play stages of the Adamson Cup played at Happy Valley on Friday.

It was stated on Saturday that P. Morrison (9), G. Marselle (1) and W. J. S. Key (13) tied for the Borey Pool at Fanning during the Jubilee Meeting. This was incorrect. The Pool was won by Marselle.

stoned by good positioning and fine ball control. His two goals were taken in the manner of an artist, showing that he possessed an old hand on young shoulders. Three more of the Arsenal goals came from his well-placed centres.

Territorially, the game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, yet there could be no doubting which side deserved to win. Arsenal were quick and incisive. Middlesbrough slow and deliberate in their methods. From the time that they obtained their first goal, seven minutes from the start, Arsenal had the issue in safe keeping.

ROGERS' FIRST GOAL
A long pass down the middle to Drake, left unattended by Griffiths, gave the centre-forward an easy first goal, and within three minutes Drake added a second by heading through a model centre from Rogers. Before half-time the young out-side-right scored his first goal in League football, when he cut in cleverly to head the ball past Hiller from Bensley's cross.

For 15 minutes in the second half Middlesbrough held their own. Then came a riot of Arsenal scoring: four goals in ten minutes and a fifth nine minutes later Bastin, Bensley, Drake, Rogers and Drake again were the scorers in the order named. If the Arsenal had not ended up considerably they would have brought their total to double figures.

Much disappointment was caused by the absence of Birkett, the former Arsenal outside-right, owing to injury. Coleman and Williams, however, had little chance to shine against their old colleagues.

Austin—Fluent, Forceful And Flawless

LYTTELTON ROGERS WINS ONLY THREE GAMES AT MELBURY

(By H. S. Scrivenor)

London, April 22.

H. W. Austin beat G. Lytelton Rogers in the final of the Melbury singles by 6-1, 6-2. They had to wait until 2.30 while rain was freely sprinkling the court, and almost as soon as they had started it began again, and though only a slight drizzle at first, it eventually became heavy enough to cause a temporary stoppage early in the second set. These facts are of import, because they add to the merit of Austin's downright victory.

Rain is usually a leveller to some extent, and I expected to find that his long reach and giant strides would give Rogers something of a pull on a slow and somewhat slippery court. But the rain made no difference to Austin whatever except that he did not volley as much as he usually does—which was judicious when one was so apt to slip. He went on playing the fluent, forceful, and flawless game which he has now made his own, so thoroughly and just as securely as if the conditions were normal.

Austin used, moreover, to hate a stoppage, because he needed to warm up after cooling off, but he seems to have overcome this drawback, although he did actually fall off for a brief spell after the re-start.

When he is playing a rally of driving Austin reminds one forcibly of a chess player who makes a series of carefully conceived moves which result in the inevitable capture of a piece, and he often showed us what command he has of the ball by suddenly bringing off a perfect drop-shot or scoring with a lob of almost fendish subtlety.

Can six-foot seven be lobbed? Yes, and what is more, where Austin is the lobber, the subsequent proceedings interest six-foot seven but little, for the lob has sailed over his head and pitched, unreturnable, behind him.

To give him his due Rogers also played extremely well considering the conditions, but I have seen him use his physical advantages more effectively. Like so many of Austin's opponents nowadays he seemed oppressed by the sheer insistency and relentlessness of Austin's play.

Incidentally, Rogers had the melancholy satisfaction of having scored as many games against Austin as anybody and more than most. The four who only got one game against him included two more Davis Cup men, Lee and Maltroy.

MISS ROUND WINS

Miss Round and Miss Stammer quite reasonably decided to wait until the rain had stopped and a court had been furnished up a bit for them:

Said No. 1 to No. 3:

"You've got to try and conquer me."

Said No. 3 to No. 1:

"I'm going to show you how it's done."

And for a time there seemed a possibility of it. For Miss Round once again was not playing quite in the grand manner which is, or ought to be, the hallmark of a Wimbledon champion. Possibly the conditions had damped her ardour just a little.

Miss Stammer, on the other hand, was hitting her furious forehand drive across the court to Miss Round's left with courage and success. Nevertheless Miss Round, thanks to her ability to play a backhand down the line, was thus capable, while avoiding Miss Stammer's forehand side, of probing her backhand and finding it less secure than her own. She was also making better weather of it with her volleys. She led at 4-2, and in the tenth game, when leading 4-1, served a double fault, and then had to watch Miss Stammer score with a volley which hit the net and toppled over, to bring them to 5-5. In the last game Miss Stammer saved three match points before losing the fourth, and the set was Miss Round's at 8-6.

Here was the old story—"So near and yet so far"—with its off-recurrent consequences. Miss Stammer was a

WORLD TITLE

Canzoneri Beat Ambers For Boxing Crown

New York, May 11. Tony Canzoneri won the world's lightweight boxing championship by beating Lou Ambers on points at the Madison Square Garden in a 15-round contest.

Landing blows almost at will and shooting stinging rights and lefts, Canzoneri reduced Ambers to a mere zephyr.

The bell saved Ambers from a knock-out in the third round, when he was twice floored with terrific left hooks. Once he was down for a count of two.

A right hook again floored Ambers in the fifteenth round, but he was up immediately.

Canzoneri toyed with Ambers throughout the fight. Ambers was game and willing, but seemed to be powerless to hurt his nimble opponent.

Canzoneri only lost the tenth, twelfth and thirteenth rounds. In these three rounds, Ambers got more of his punches home.

Apparently not wanting to slaughter his opponent, Canzoneri held back in the last two rounds.

The general opinion is that Ambers is in good against any one except Canzoneri.

Canzoneri weighed in at 147 lbs., and Ambers at 147 lbs.

A crowd of 17,433 witnessed the fight. —Reuter.

EXCHANGE OF AMBASSADORS

CHINA AND JAPAN IN AGREEMENT

Shanghai, May 13.
Although the Chinese Government has virtually agreed with the Japanese Government in respect of the exchange of ambassadors between the two nations, the diplomatic authorities here appear to attach little importance to this move, and prefer to maintain silence.
It is learned that in reciprocating the appointment by Japan of Mr. Ariyoshi as first Japanese Ambassador to China, the Nanjing Foreign Office is expected to appoint Mr. Chiang Tso-pan, now Chinese Minister at Tokyo, as first Chinese Ambassador to Japan.
In an editorial comment, the Tokyo Asahi approved of Mr. Hirota's move in this direction as wise and appropriate, and said that China's diplomatic position would be better off if Britain and the United States were advised to follow this example.

FOOTBALL IDOL IN INCIDENT

Mr. Lee Wai-tong, the football idol of China, has reported to the police that while driving private car No. 2546 down Wellington Street at 8 o'clock this morning, he saw some constables walking near D'Agular Street, on the right, of the road. He sounded his horn and tried to go on the right hand side of the road, but when passing the policemen two coolies carrying rice came out from a shop to Mr. Lee's right side. The driver applied his brakes and turned slightly left and in doing so a mudguard gave one of the constables a slight push.
According to Mr. Lee, the constable, a Shantung man, became furious and took particulars from his licence. Mr. Lee apologised in the constable's native language, but the latter still insisted on having the driver's particulars.
Mr. K. H. D. Fogz, of the Royal Air Force, Kai Tak Base, was involved in an accident yesterday. While riding a motor cycle he collided with a Chinese, Tiu Tam, at the junction of Chatham Road and Ma Tau Kok Road. Mr. Fogz sustained injuries to his face, while the man suffered injury to both legs. Both were sent to the Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

Two cases each of Small-pox and Typhoid Fever were reported to the local Health authorities on Friday.

BIG SEIZURE OF OPIUM

BENCH REFUSES BAIL

Following the seizure of a large quantity of contraband opium at the Kowloon Godown Wharf, on Saturday, three Chinese were brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. The case was remanded for seven days.

The charge against Chan Ho-fuk, aged 40, a room boy of the President Hayes, was that he did an act preparatory to and for the purpose of exporting prepared opium on the President Hayes. Two coolies, Yuen Ki and Chan Kau, were charged with the possession of 3,300 taels prepared opium.

Revenue Officer Grimmit, who appeared for the prosecution, in applying for a remand stated that the case would probably require an afternoon to hear the evidence. It was suggested that bail should be granted in the maximum sum of $5,000.

His Worship replied that it was his opinion that the case was beyond bail. Bail was accordingly refused.

GOVERNOR THANKS POLICE

JUBILEE SERVICES APPRECIATED

Warm appreciation of the work of the Police Force and the Police Reserve during the Jubilee celebrations is contained in the following letter from H.E. the Governor to the Inspector General of Police:

"I have the honour to express my very high appreciation of the work done by yourself and the Hongkong Police Force under your charge during the recent Silver Jubilee Celebrations.

"I fully realise that on such an occasion you and your officers must feel considerable anxiety and that a great amount of organisation and hard work is called for both by them and indeed by all members of the Force.

"I have no hesitation in saying that such was forthcoming and that the result reflected the greatest credit on all concerned.

"I also wish to tender my sincere thanks to the Police Reserve for the excellent work done by them.

"It is most satisfactory and a cause for congratulation that the crowds were so efficiently controlled and that no untoward incidents occurred."

I.G.P.'S APPRECIATION

Forwarding His Excellency's letter to the Deputy Superintendent of Police (Reserve), the Inspector General of Police says:

"I have much pleasure in forwarding to you a letter addressed to me by His Excellency the Governor, in which he expresses his appreciation and thanks for the excellent work done by the Police Reserve.

"I trust that you will convey His Excellency's appreciation to all members of the Police Reserve, and at the same time express to them my thanks for the work they put in under very trying and difficult conditions during the Jubilee Celebrations. Members of the Police Reserve worked for long hours in somewhat unpleasant heat, and the fact that the celebrations passed off without any untoward event, increases the tactfulness and discretion used by the Police Reserve throughout this period."

Nearly 1,500 officers and men of the East Lancashire Regiment, the Lincolnshire Regiment, and the local company of the Legion of Frontiersmen, under Capt. C.F. James, M.C., attended an open air parade Jubilee thanksgiving service at Shamshui Camp on Sunday. The Rev. H.C. Davies, M.C., Chaplain to the Forces, conducted the service, music being provided by the Lincolnshire Band.
